Study gets committee approval

MARY FOLEY
 Staff Reporter

In a unanimous vote by the Lake County Public Service Committee, approval was given to seek bids for a sewer feasibility study in Antioch Township. The study will evaluate the costs and even possibility of sewer service.

"I want to thank our County Board Member Judy Martini and Lake County Public Works Director Al Galantha for their advice and support," said Carole Jonites, president of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA). UHAUA has been working hard to get the study underway.

According to Jonites, who gave a brief presentation to the committee before the vote, the committee based their decision for a study on the risk of pollution to the area lakes from See STUDY page A10

Board approves school rezoning petition

MARY FOLEY
 Staff Reporter

The atmosphere became very emotional by the time the Antioch Village Board approved Antioch Consolidated School District 34's petition to have a 3.6-acre parcel rezoned to multi-family. The decision was made Monday night at the regular board meeting.

The village hall was jammed with opponents of the proposed apartment plan off Highview Drive. Also in the crowd were District 34's Superintendent Dr. Daniel Burke and Dr. Don Skidmore, the district's business manager.

When all was said and done, the board approved the petition with only one dissent, Trustee Wayne Foresta. But, the reluctance to approve the measure was evident in most of the other trustees.

"This has been a very difficult decision for me," said a tearful Trustee Mabel Lou Weber.

Planning and Zoning initially rejected a proposal to change the zoning on a piece of property off Hillside Avenue. The school district's petition asked to have the zoning changed from R-1 to R-5, multi-family.

The somewhat controversial plan to build a 43-unit apartment building on Hillside, the access road to W.C. Petty and Antioch Upper Grade schools, had been considered by the zoning board twice. The zoning board denied District 34's request for rezoning after a public hearing on June 8 and on July 27, the zoning board once again rejected the petition citing access and traffic problems.

Neighbors spoke of traffic problems, flooding and drainage concerns, and even noise problems as a reason to deny District 34's petition. Hillside, which is off Tiffany Road, dead-ends at W.C. Petty School. Multifamily dwellings abound in the area. However, the zoning board agreed with residents, which left the Antioch Village See REZONING page A10

Everyone is welcome to attend the anniversary event which will be held Sept. 9 from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Agency's new home at 45 S. Pistakee Lake Rd. behind McDonalds in Fox Lake.

Visitors will be invited in to walk through the new facility. Some of the dignitaries invited are Illinois Gov. Jim Edgar, and former Gov. Jim Thompson, as well as State Senator Dick Klemm (R-32); State Rep. Cal Skinner Jr. (R-64) and officials from municipalities and townships within the Agency's boundaries.

Agency board members and advisory committee members will also be on hand to join in on the celebration.

Village OK's massage therapy service

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board okayed a new business in Antioch, a massage therapy service. Constance Sturm will be available for sessions from her new location on Lake Street.

"Ms. Sturm has submitted documentation relative to her schooling and background checks," said Village Planner Robert Silhan. "She is also a member of the professional organization."

Sturm received her education at the Wellness and Massage Training Institute in Willowbrook. But, even before her official training, Sturm has been making people feel better all her life.

"I got started when I was 12," she explains. As a young woman, she relieved her mother of backaches and migraines. "I seem to be a natural at that."

Sturm makes no claims of a magic touch, though. "I don't have it, God gives me whatever I have," she said. "But, I will say people do feel better when they leave me."

The new business will be operated on a cash-only basis. However, clients will be able to submit the receipts to insurance companies. While not all insurers accept massage therapy treatment, some do.

But, whatever you do, do not refer to this business as a massage parlor. "It is like someone punches me in the stomach when I hear that," said Sturm. And, because of the onerous, Sturm is making sure all her administrative paper work is correct.

"I want to be all legal," she joked. "Especially in the business I am in."

Sturm believes it is her nurturing personality which directed her to open up her new service. "I like nurturing. Now, I get to do it everyday and get paid for it," she said.

She hopes to open up shop in Antioch as soon as her paperwork is completed. An official grand opening will be held on Sept. 30.

St. Peter students return

The summer is officially over for students at St. Peter School in Antioch. The school opened its doors at 8:20 a.m. on Wednesday.

There will be several new things to greet students on their first day. The full day kindergarten program has become so popular, a second class has been added.

Students are also excused from wearing their uniforms for the first week of school. In anticipation of continued warm and humid weather, students will be permitted to wear shorts, tee-shirts and gym shoes on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Dismissal on Wednesday was at 11:30 a.m., with full-day schedules following.

To celebrate the return to school, the Family Association will be holding an ice cream social in the school gym. The social will be held following the children's Mass at 11 a.m. on Aug. 27.

The students will not have new uniforms this year. During Parent's Night, a special table will display the styles and fabrics available.

Added security on buses

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

When the school year begins on Tuesday at Antioch Community High School, bus transportation for students will be a little bit safer than last year. The bus videotaping program will be in place.

"We will be placing, on the school buses, video camera's," said Principal Susan Mullendore. "This will provide additional safety."

Videotaping on buses was approved by the ACHS Board of Education last spring. During the last board meeting, finishing touches were put on the policy.

Taping on school buses has become a common practice in other school districts. "It is a monitoring device to insure student's safety," said Mullendore.

ACHS contracts transportation services from Laidlaw of Wisconsin. School officials said they were quite happy with the bus service.

Videotaping will probably not have much impact on bus riders, and it is probable most will not even notice. "It really shouldn't affect students," said Mullendore.

Turnout slow for ACHS board posts

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

While there are three openings on the Antioch Community High School Board of Education, as of Wednesday, only two petitions have been returned. The filing period for candidacy began Monday morning and will end Aug. 28 at 5 p.m.

School Board President Laurel Dahl, and board members Rosemary Lipps and Joanne Osmond are not seeking reelection in November. This leaves three spots open.

Two Antioch residents, Sandy Jacobs and Ed Koziorowski filed early Monday morning. Filing early ensures the first few spots on the ballot.

Koziorowski is fairly well known in the community. He is a former Village of Antioch trustee, and served in 1989 and 1990. Koziorowski is a member of the Antioch Planning and Zoning Board.

"Something has to be done," said Koziorowski regarding his reasons for running, "for the education of our kids. I'd like to see the options first hand."

Koziorowski has been very involved with ACHS and is currently serving as president of Sequoit Pride. Koziorowski has a daughter who will be a senior at ACHS this year. He is also a former member of Better Education Sensible Taxes (BEST).

Sandy Jacobs also filed her petition for candidacy Monday morning. Jacobs, a 20-year resident of Antioch taught school for 10 years in Wauconda. She has two children in the lower grades.

Jacobs was unavailable for an interview because she was busy helping to paint a map of the United States at Antioch Lower Grade. However, her husband said one of the reasons she wants to run for the school board is because "she likes to contribute."

Schools looking for a few good people

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

It is time again for school board elections, and the local elementary schools are looking for a few good people. As of Wednesday, only District 34 has enough candidates to fill the available spots.

Grass Lake School District has four openings this November. Early candidate filers include two incumbents: Marie Brausam and Linda Boerman. Brausam is currently the board vice president and Boerman is the board secretary.

Emmons School District is also short of candidates at this time. With three openings on the board, only two candidates have filed early. Barbara Comstock has thrown her hat into the ring along with Dolores Schmelzer. Comstock has been very active with the school and is past president of the PTO organization.

In addition to the normal openings at Emmons, the new board will also need to appoint another board member to replace Janet Quist. Quist her post during the last Emmons School Board meeting.

At Antioch Consolidated School District 34, which includes W.C. Petty School, Antioch Upper Grade School, Antioch Grade School, and Oakland, three candidates have filed early. Incumbents Mike Perrone and Steve Turner have put their petitions in. Also, newcomer Jody Colatrino has filed.

Kathryn Oddson, the current board president has not yet filed her petition and it is not known if she plans to return to the board.

The time limit for filing petitions of candidacy began on Monday Aug. 21 and extend to Aug. 28 at 5 p.m. Anyone interested in running for school board positions is encouraged to pick up a petition packet at your local school board office.

Man slumped on tracks killed

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Police are still awaiting results of a toxicology report after a Grayslake man was run over by a Wisconsin Central freight train. Steven Ring, 21, was pronounced dead on the scene by the Lake County Coroner's office after he was hit on the tracks approximately 100 feet south of the Lake St. crossing.

Grayslake Police Sergeant Matt McCutcheon relayed statements made by the northbound train's engineer, who called the police station at 12:27 a.m. to report the accident. According to the engineer, Ring was lying between the tracks. Ring did not move before being struck by the train, which was traveling at approximately 50 miles per hour.

McCutcheon could not confirm if the engineer had blown the horn, but assumed he did so because it is a requirement when a train approaches intersections. The coroner's office determined the injuries to Ring's body were consistent with impact from the train and did not indicate foul play. McCutcheon said the toxicology report will determine how the police investigation will proceed.

"We may develop additional information for a continued investigation," McCutcheon said of the report.

The death is tentatively being called accidental by the Grayslake police department. If the toxicology report indicates alcohol or some other substance that would cause Ring to pass out on the tracks, McCutcheon said accidental may very well be determined as the official cause of death. He could not confirm if Ring was partaking in Centennial Celebration festivities prior to his death. The tracks do lead from the downtown area and the celebration ended for the evening just 25 minutes prior to the accident. McCutcheon did say it was not unusual for Ring to be walking on the tracks where he was struck.

"That would be the way he would be walking home," McCutcheon said.

Born in Libertyville, Ring was a lifelong resident of Grayslake. A 1992 Grayslake High School graduate, Ring was attending the College of Lake County. He was employed by Crisara and Son Home Comfort Heating and Cooling, Inc. of Gages Lake. He is survived by family members in Grayslake, Antioch and Lake Villa.

Revealing fight breaks out at wedding

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

A newlywed couple in Lake County may have ended up with wedding photos they will never be able to show their children. During a wedding reception held at the Regency Inn in Antioch, a brawl broke out in the lobby.

Betty M. Servis, 44, of Lake Villa, was arrested and charged with battery and disorderly conduct after the altercation. According to the police report, the victim told police while attending a wedding reception,

Servis called her a "fat cow."

The woman said after that, Servis pulled her hair, and then pulled the top of her dress down exposing the victim's breasts to a crowd in the lobby. According to the report, both adults and children were in the crowd.

The witnesses then reported the victim and Servis began striking each other.

When police arrived, they had some difficulty getting to the bottom of the problem because most of the witnesses were related and may have had their own slant on the fight. However, finally, police found a patron who told police he heard the offender call the victim a "fat cow" and it seemed to the witness as though the offender was the aggressor.

Servis was charged and released on bond. She has a court date of Sept. 27 at Grayslake Branch Court. It is not known if the brawl was photographed or videotaped.

Sex offender indicted again

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

The Lake County state's attorney's office will not be adding additional counts of aggravated criminal sexual assault to a minor to the charges pending against Joseph Escalera. Escalera has already been charged with one count after allegedly having sexual contact with a 10-year-old Round Lake boy.

Working in tandem, Lake County Children's Advocacy Center investigators and Grayslake Detective Doug Hess have interviewed eight other boys ranging in age from 9 to 14 years who have also been in Escalera's Grayslake apartment. The alleged contact with the 10-year-old happened over a ten-week period when the boy would come over to Escalera's apartment. The boy and his parents knew Escalera from their Round Lake Beach church, where Escalera was once a Sunday School teacher.

Hess also said the state's attorney's office will not charge Escalera's roommate as an accessory to the crime nor consider him as a victim. The roommate, a 36-year-old man who is developmentally disabled, relates well to children and police say was unknowingly part of Escalera's plan to lure children to his apartment.

Hess said the parents of the alleged victim have been extremely compliant with the investigation and intend to get their son into counseling.

Escalera, who has lived in Grayslake for roughly two years, served prison time for a 1988 conviction on three counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse to three minor boys in Mount Prospect.

Congratulations to library's Camp Read-A-Lot participants

The Camp Read-A-Lot Summer Program held at the Antioch Library was a huge success. Most all of the participants met their established goal and enjoyed a variety of interesting activities sponsored by the library.

The events held up at the Lions Pavilion really captured the kids' attention despite the obstacles set up by Mother Nature. We encountered scorching heat during the Magic Show, hurricane winds at the Earth Keeper Show, and a torrential downpour challenged the voice of our lone storyteller; they all endured fierce competition from the passing train. Even Mrs. Padbury had to halt her presentation during the program's ending party as the freight train roared past the pavilion.

A big thank you goes out to those who provided the rewards for the program participants: Arby's, Ben Franklin, Domino's Pizza, Jewel, McDonald's, Video Explosion, Hardee's and Margaret O'Leary.

Congratulations to all the participants in this year's program because, as Mrs. Padbury stressed, you were all winners for devoting part of your summer to reading. Reading provides you with knowledge, and you can never have enough knowledge.

Now an extra congratulations to all the weekly game prize winners and the End Party raffle winners: Matthew Federico, Erin Gaynor, Scott Wieczowski, Gary Mouradian, Terrie Martin, Kelly Inman, Kevin Budd, T.J. Crichton, Elliott Daus, Amanda Hain, Kara Korom, Destiny Lange, Jillian Lindom, Eddie Lindstrom, Kaitlyn McDonald, Nicholas Markovich, Kara Mastrodonato, Shondra Moon, Megan Placko, Michelle Ranaldo, Kimmy Smith, T.J. Surforina and Dalton West.

Belated birthday wishes

that have come to my attention, so I would like to take a moment and correct my oversight.

A belated happy birthday to Kelly Bryant who turned 7 this month and celebrated with a great party at Congo River in Kenosha, and little Mary DeBoer who was lucky enough to celebrate her third birthday up at the Wisconsin Dells on Aug. 11. Sorry I missed you two lovely young ladies; I'll be sure and add you to my list for next year.

Lordy, Lordy...

A big belated happy birthday goes out to Dennis DeBoer, who just happened to hit the big four-zero on the 18th. To avoid any sort of big celebration, Dennis thought he was going to be real slick and use the DeBoer family's annual trek up to Spooner, Wis. as a nonchalant means of getting out of town.

Unbeknownst to Mr. Party Pooper, some of his "never-take-a-vacation" kind of friends got up the notion and the ambition to surprise dear old Dennis at that little cottage by the lake. Yes, folks, that crazy Pocrnich couple, Tom and Kim, actually loaded up the family sports vehicle and headed north for a weekend getaway, to a cabin of all places. Any of you who know the Pocrnich's know a cabin isn't exactly their idea of an ideal destination unless, perhaps, it's aboard a Princess Cruise Line.

But nonetheless, up they ventured to help Dennis celebrate his big birthday. Of course Kim had to bring as much "40th birthday" paraphernalia as she could possibly find to plaster all over the DeBoer cottage. She wanted everyone vacationing at the facility to join in on the joyous occasion. So much for slink-away Dennis and his plan for a quiet day.

Now Dennis, Neal and I are sorry we couldn't join you up at your rustic hide-away, but we got to thinking: How in the world can we compete with those wild and crazy Pocrnich's? Our only recourse was to notify the whole town of your unwillingness to acknowledge the fact that you are closer than any of us to qualifying for senior citizen discounts, but hey, who's telling?

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

So Dennis, for all your trouble and effort to skip town to avoid celebrating your big day, let me just tell you I think it was that Kim who was behind your whole traumatic ordeal up north. Now we all know she has a birthday in March, which leaves you plenty of time to plan your strategy. Let us know how we can help—hey, what are friends for?

So now that you're back in town, Dennis, happy belated birthday, and take comfort in the fact that you can breathe a sigh of relief for at least 10 more years! Does "Nifty, Nifty, Look Who's Fifty" have a familiar ring?

Back to school cheer

Well, school starts Monday—hip, hip hooray! Of course life still won't be perfect, but pretty darn close. I do have to admit, though, I'm not looking forward to the rushed morning routine. Moms everywhere know what an adventure a school morning can be. It's often a real challenge to get everyone dressed, fed, brushed and supplied with the right tools for the day before the bus driver starts honking his horn.

I try to be diplomatic and give the kids options in the morning, but sometimes it's just plain easier to be the dictator of the household. I always try to keep an open mind when I ask four hungry little tummies what they would like for breakfast. Inevitably I hear waffles, French toast, pancakes and cookies. They get cereal.

We also encounter the getting dressed fiasco. It's 85 degrees outside, one comes down in a sweat suit, one in a turtleneck sweater and wool skirt, one in a long sleeve leotard with an attached tutu and leggings, one stands in front of me naked. Amidst protests and stamping feet, I march them back upstairs and dress them in identical shorts and shirts—oh, the two older girls just love that.

I did try the "let-your-child-choose" routine once—oh, that was a real productive experience. It proved a child will choose anything the mom is not holding up, especially if it's in the dirty clothes hamper.

We have all entered the "get-the-lunches-ready" production line. We are supposed to keep track of who likes mayonnaisse, who hates cheese, who refuses to eat a sandwich cut into triangles, and whose lunch gets left on the counter.

Yes, from 7:15 to 8:15 a.m. most households encounter an hour of sheer unpleasantness, but from 8:15 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. we get a little taste of paradise without the palm trees, ocean and sand. Of course those of us who still have a child or two home all day still have that one Mother's Little Helper to rely on, called nap time!

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Peterson says villages should control growth

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

State Sen. Bill Peterson differed with a school board president over impact fees and the state's role in education.

Peterson was speaking at the Round Lake Area Chamber of Commerce & Industry meeting when Craig Kressner, Lake Villa Elementary school board president, questioned Peterson on the status of a bill which would allow school districts to charge larger impact fees from developers.

'(Villages) are almost jumping at each other's shoulders trying to attract developers. They should consider some form of control.'

— State Sen. Bill Peterson

"I don't think the state is the place to go. The developers and builders have more influence than the municipalities," Peterson said.

Kressner felt the state should assist municipalities and schools by allowing them to collect more impact fees or donations from developers to defray the cost of new development.

"At least the state could let each municipality do it," Kressner said of addressing larger impact fees without getting taken to court.

"They still have that right and they can still do it," Peterson retorted. Peterson said villages have successfully defended higher impact fees in the courts.

Peterson suggested municipalities take seriously the impact of development before allowing such wide-scale development and not depend on the state to bail them out.

"We shouldn't have to micro manage it at the state level," Peterson said.

He added many villages seem to be in a hurry to develop and aren't considering the long-term impacts rapid residential growth.

"They are almost jumping at each other's shoulders trying to attract developers. They should consider some form of control," Peterson said.

Thanks 'Pride'

Editor:

Recently the front circle drive at Antioch Community High School became much more attractive to persons arriving at the school. Thanks to the efforts of Sequoit Pride, the circle area has been beautifully landscaped.

I want to personally thank Ed Koziorowski and all members of Sequoit Pride for the many hours of volunteer work necessary to raise the funds for this project. Also, a special thanks to Thelen Sand & Gravel for donating the gravel for the project.

Sequoit Pride, and other parent and community groups which support Antioch Community High School, are an important part of the program at ACHS.

All parents and patrons of Antioch Community High School are encouraged to become involved. Involvement makes a difference, as is evidenced by the new look to the circle drive.

From all of us at Antioch Community High School, a big THANK YOU to Sequoit Pride!

Class of 1945 remembers

The Class of 1945 at Antioch High School held their 50th class reunion, and classmates from all over the U.S. were in attendance. An informal get-together, a dinner-dance and a brunch were among the events, the highlight of which was the presentation of a class picture for the school archives.

Due to the war or perhaps other unforeseen circumstances, the Class of 1945 picture was never hung with the other pictures. Now, 50 years later, they finally made it!

After the picture presentation, the high school was toured, and a great time was had by all reminiscing about the "good old days" and finding it hard to believe that it had really been 50 years.

Adler Center to host Festival of Arts

JENNIFER WHISENAND
Staff Reporter

Festival of the Arts is coming back to the David Adler Cultural Center with offerings from around the world.

Visitors will find a variety of music and exquisite art to please everyone September 9 and 10. Festival hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Musical programs will feature a variety of entertainment from local groups: All in a Row, a women's acappella group; Eric Noden playing old time country blues on his guitar; and the folk group Beggars Alley. In addition, the festival will include music from five parts of the world.

"This year we wanted to do something a little different, so we are going to have two types of dances on the brick patio for everyone to try," said Paul Tyler, Adler's director of folk. "We are going to provide square dancing and reggae music for everyone this year to dance to."

"There will be something to see at all hours of the festival," said Tyler. "In the tradition of the world music feast, we will be offering different types of music from many ethnic groups." Sound styles will range from European to Mexican. Some of the ethnic music will be played by Basquing in Sound, a European group performing Basque music, using the fiddle and an accordion. Traditional Mexican tunes will be performed by Sones de Mexico, using a number of fiddles.

"Our musicians are from five different parts of the world and all possess a different ethnicity," Tyler said.

On Sunday students from the David Adler Cultural Center will take the stage playing forms of classical music.

Along with the music the festival will offer visitors a chance to shop around for a unique piece of art that would great above the fire place mantel, on that bare wall or even on the coffee table.

"The grounds of the Adler Center will offer 50 artists a chance to get their work out to show and sell to art lovers," said Adler's Visual Arts Director Justine Vaughn.

Vaughn stated that the prices of the many art works vary in price from $10 all the way up to around $400.

"Last year we had a woman here selling porcelain-faced Santa Claus doll that were priced up to $800," Vaughn said.

The artists come from all over the Chicagoland area to enjoy the festival and to get their art out in display, she explained.

The art work will range from fine art jewelry to different types of painting to crafts.

Along with the art displays and musical performances the festival will also include many food stands on the site where visitors can pick up a snack while they enjoy the festival.

Vendors will include the St. Louis Bread Company, Ben and Jerry's and many others. The festival coordinators are still looking for sponsors and vendors to help with the Festival of Arts this year.

For more information call 367-0707.

Geo-Karis rated 'perfect' by management association

Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) has been presented with the "Voice of Employers" award for having a perfect voting record, according to the Management Assn. of Illinois.

"The Management Assn. of Illinois is a distinguished body that is well respected by Illinois businesses," said Geo-Karis. "To be honored by them with this award is a great pleasure for me. I have always been a strong supporter of business and labor. I believe that employers and labor are partners—one cannot exist without the other."

This year, MAI rated legislators on key votes on issues such as tort reform, the repeal of the Structural Work Act, insurance-related legislation, and reform to the employment discrimination process.

Geo Karis: boot camps at county jails

Boot camp programs can be organized at a county level under legislation sponsored by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and signed into law by Gov. Jim Edgar.

According to Geo-Karis, boot camps are currently organized on a statewide level. Cook County is the only county authorized to organize a boot camp program. Senate Bill 239, co-sponsored by George Shadid (D-Edwards) and sponsored in the House of Representatives by Judy Biggett (R-Hinsdale), extends this privilege to all other counties in the state.

"Overcrowding in prisons continues to be a problem for Illinois," said Geo-Karis. "We need to find new ways of dealing with criminals of misdemeanors and low felonies, and statewide boot camps have proven to be successful in reforming criminals into productive citizens."

Under the new law, eligibility to participate in a county boot camp will be decided by the county.

Parents of murdered children plan meeting

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Several sets of parents are preparing to meet for the first time to discuss the almost inconceivable pain of losing a child to murder. The discussion group is being spearheaded by Antioch resident Tom Degen, who lost his son Tom Jr. on Dec. 28, 1983.

"There was no reason for him to die," said Degen in an earlier interview. "So, I'm making one."

Degen heard of a group called the National Organization of Parents of Murdered Children and gave them a call. Through the organization, he is now working to form a local chapter in Lake County.

Parents of Murdered Children (POMC) was founded in 1978 by Charlotte and Bob Hullinger in Cincinnati. Their daughter, Lisa, had been murdered.

The goal of the group is to provide support and an opportunity to share grief between parents, friends and family members of children who have been murdered. Currently, the group provides support to more than 38,000 survivors throughout the United States and abroad.

At the local level, survivors meet monthly to supply information on the grief process, offer ongoing support, help parents through the sometimes torturous legal process. Many chapters offer a telephone network of support. Presently, POMC has more than 100 chapters.

According to Degen, when a child is murdered, the crime does not stop with the arrest of the perpetrator. His son's killer, Steve Palmer of Gurnee, was tried and convicted. However, the Illinois Appellate Court overturned the conviction. The time the case wound its way through the court system kept the pain fresh in Degen's mind.

In his effort to form a local chapter, the first order of business for Degen was getting in touch with other parents whose children have been murdered. "Several families have called," said Degen.

After making contact, Degen started looking for a place to meet. "I contacted Claude LeMere (Antioch's downtown development director)," said

Degen. "It looks like we will be using the community center."

At the national level, POMC enables survivors to link up with others. In addition, the organization coordinates the Truth in Sentencing program, which provides for the circulation of petitions to prevent the early release of child murderers.

Just this week, Illinois Governor Jim Edgar signed a strong truth in sentencing legislation. His action was the result of the death of Christopher Meyers, the 10-year old murdered in Kankakee last week.

The law also came too late for Degen. Degen said Palmer, who had been arrested 14 times for crimes included assaulting restaurant customers, had a history of mental illness. According to Degen, Palmer had just been released from his 36th hospitalization when he knifed his son to death.

Fox River and Chain O' Lakes, something needed to be done.

State legislators passed a law allowing the voters of a defined territory along the lakes and river to create the Agency on a user fee-basis.

Since equipment needed for dredging was too expensive, in 1989, Governor Jim Thompson assisted in helping the Agency to purchase two different backhoes to do the jobs.

Permits were the next step, and some residents became upset since they had been paying user fees for six years with few jobs being accomplished, said Dam.

Today the Waterway Agency has over 51 permits, and an "excellent rapport" with various agencies, said Dam.

In June, the state budgeted $3.9 million towards equipment and the Agency's new facility.

A number of sites have been designated for dredge work including one of the first barge projects in the history of Lake County. Currently the Agency is working just south of the Rte. 12 bridge, and next a barge will move north on the channel to the Round Hills subdivision in Fox Lake.

A permit to begin a wetland restoration project on Grass Lake is nearly in the hands of Agency officials.

User fees which have never changed since the Agency's inception, will finally be raised from $30 to $40 for an average sized boat.

Resident raises money for church addition

While the figures are not in yet, Tom Hudd, 34, of Antioch has gone a long way towards helping the Shalem Seventh-Day Adventist Church build a new addition. Hudd, who has cerebral palsy, rode a triped bike from Centennial Park in Antioch to the Waukegan Church.

Hudd said his inspiration came from watching the movie Forest Gump. In the movie, the main character, a mildly retarded man, ran across the United States garnering quite a following.

"I thought it would be a good idea to do something like that," said Hudd.

While not a baptized member of Shalem Seventh-Day Adventist Church, Hudd attends very frequently. "He is like one of the family," said LoriKay Sartin, a church member.

The 22-mile trip took Hudd over three hours to travel. While it was rough, Hudd made it.

"It went better than expected," he said.

According to Sartin, the final totals have not yet been announced, but friends and neighbors pledged amounts for every mile Todd traveled.

The church is not the only charity which benefits from Hudd's dedication. Hudd and his brother began riding for the American Cancer Society. Over the years, the brothers have raised more than $28,000.

Lake Villa moves ahead on plant

Lake Villa Plan Commission recommended approval for zoning and annexation of Vulcan Materials Corporation into the village.

The company is proposing to use the site off Wall Street as the storage and distribution facility. The company will use the rail spurs from railroad tracks to transport limestone chip material which is a base for roads.

Jerry Coia, commission chairman, stressed many of the concerns of the commission were alleviated by company officials. A main issue was how the material would affect wetland areas if some of it ran off into wetland areas.

"They addressed all of our concerns," Coia said. "The limestone chip actually purifies the water."

Coia said the company officials informed the board about 40 box cars at a time would be delivered to the site from about 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. It wouldn't require any additional train traffic at this time.

The site is in the Larson Industrial Park located north of the village on 30 acres of land. Vulcan plans on using about 10 acres of the site, another 10 is wetlands, and the rest is yet to be decided.

The company will only transport the five varieties of limestone chip material in about a 8 to 10 mile radius. The material will only be distributed for Lake County areas.

Vulcan is planning to use a conveyor system to take the material from rail spurs to load onto trucks. The trucks would transport the materials to the construction sites.

The business is looking for Light Industrial Zoning which is what the village has zoned for the site in its 1991 Comprehensive Plan. Village Planner Lane Kendig recommended the annexation.

Coia said company officials stressed this isn't an asphalt plant and there will be no grinding of material on the site.

The village projects the company could bring about $24,000 to $40,000 in sales tax revenues to the village each year.

The next step is for the village board to vote on the annexation and zoning plan.

Rezoning

Board the option of either overturning the zoning board's recommendation or facing the possibility of a lawsuit.

"I share their concerns as they related to traffic," said Trustee Marvin Oldenburger. "This would be a better project if there was other access."

However, despite his misgivings, Oldenburger voted for the change in zoning. "On the other hand, this property is almost completely surrounded by R-5 zoning (multiple family)," he told the group. "Our attorney is telling us that the surrounding zoning and the comprehensive plan would probably be interpreted in the petitioner's favor in court."

The issue of an extended court battle seemed to be the controlling issue with the village board. "We would be spending many dollars of taxpayers' money for a battle we couldn't win," added Oldenburger.

Residents were allowed to speak their minds at the meeting as well. "I don't think the school district will take us to court," said one resident. "And, if they do - fine. It will tie the property up."

Also on hand at the meeting were zoning board members Justine Lubkeman and Ed Koziorowski. Lubkeman told the board, planning and zoning has made plans to change the zoning in the comprehensive plan.

"We have scheduled a workshop to discuss downsizing (the zoning)," said Lubkeman. "We are going to be looking at the comprehensive plan."

County Board Member Judy Martini spoke out in favor of the residents opposed to the apartment plan. She told the board of several Lake County environmental issues which had not yet been addressed by the petitioners.

Oldenburger explained soil and water issues are dealt with at the time the permitting process begins.

There was some talk of providing alternative access to the area using the old "ice house road." The "road" is a 50- to 60-foot easement which abuts the school property on the west.

Lubkeman suggested if the "ice house road" were developed, her objection to the rezoning would be dropped. "The grade school has owned the properties the whole time," she said of the road. "There would be no bridge required."

However, Mayor Marilyn Shineflug tried to get the meeting back on track. "We are only here to discuss this one issue," said Shineflug of the rezoning.

Antioch Village Attorney Ken Clark tried to explain to the residents, the opponents of the rezoning failed to present any admissible evidence at the hearings. "Some of the minutes, I would be embarrassed to put into evidence," he said.

After listening to all, the board took the vote. Foresta, the only hold out on the board, voted against the rezoning because of safety concerns.

Jeering and grumbling followed the vote. One woman left yelling, "Wait until the next election. Wait until the next election."

failed septic systems.

"They all said they appreciated our (Antioch Township residents) plight," said Jonites. "They said they would like the study done."

Costs for the study would be paid for through user fees.

The Village of Antioch, Antioch Township, the Waterway Management Agency, and the Lake County Health Department sent letters in support of the sewer feasibility study. In addition, more than 2,000 residents indicated a desire to have the study done.

Bids need to be solicited before the study can advance any further.

Speed limit to decrease

Sand Lake Road intersection work will not begin until after Labor Day.

Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk said Lake County Division of Transportation decided to wait until after the holiday to begin work on installing two left turn lanes.

"They didn't want to stop traffic on a holiday weekend," Baumunk said.

The Village of Lindenhurst, Lake County Board and Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) are working on temporary signals at the deadly intersection of Sand Lake Road and Rte. 45. Temporary signals are expected to be installed in late fall.

In another safety related matter, IDOT will be lowering the speed limit on Grass Lake Road from Rte. 45 to Deep Lake Road from 55 mph in to 45 mph.

Chamber mixer a big success

Ed and Nancy Cimaglio, owners of Distinctive Signs, and Kelly Poland of The Neon Explosion were the hosts for the August Chamber Mixer "BBQ in the Country" held at their new location, 43420 N. Rte. 45 in Antioch. The warm, humid and sometimes threatening weather did not stop chamber members from coming out and having a great time.

Over 30 members of the chamber came out to enjoy the fresh roasted corn on the cob, which was slow cooking all evening. Barbie's Genuine Southern BBQ, served with all the trimmings, was a real treat. Also, on sight for display was the NOVUS Windshield Repair 1967 Camaro Dragster, which does a quarter-mile in 10.12 seconds at 132 m.p.h. Distinctive Signs and The Neon Explosion are associate sponsors of the race car.

Even State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis stopped by for some BBQ and conversation.

"I'm thrilled with the turn out," said Ed Cimaglio. "This is a great opportunity for the Antioch Chamber members to get to know each other better and do some networking in a casual, fun environment."

The chamber is considering having mixers on a more frequent basis. Members interested in hosting or participating in these events can call the Antioch Chamber of Commerce at 395-2239.

Rams prepare for more victories to show in '95

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

It has been said preparation is a big part of success.

Grayslake High's football team hopes, by November, to be an example of that saying.

"When the lightning came on the first day of practice, we did not miss a beat because our off-season conditioning and summer camps went so well. We took some strength tests and got a lot accomplished and went over some things for the next day," Rams Coach Dan Dillon said.

Dillon is a firm believer in the off-season camps and time and effort. "It was a huge success. My first year, we had 35 participate. The second year we had 50 and this year we had 120," Dillon said.

Winning helps renew the interest in football. So much so that Dillon is requesting another coach at the freshmen level.

Senior Tom Mainord and junior Jeff Pallo are the leading candidates at quarterback. Both are 5-10, but that may be where the similarity ends. Mainord is the more outgoing of the two. The winner was not known until the week before the season opener Aug. 25 at Mundelein.

Schane Shanstra, a senior, is one of a few players who sat out last year but is back and is vying for a running back slot.

Justin Wood, a senior, leads in the fullback derby. Other candidates are junior Jason Olson and senior Mike Miller.

Sophomore Neill Schroeder is one young speedster. "He has 4.5 speed in the 40-yard dash and is one tough kid for a sophomore. He reminds me of Jason Liska of Marian Central when he was brought up as a sophomore," he said.

Linemen returning, after a year off, are Luke Krohn, at 6-2, 185 and Brian Kiple. "Both have shown glimpses of greatness. They could be our bookends," Dillon said.

Mainord and Mike Karaszewski are returning at linebacker, while Jeff Horvath is back in the secondary as is Brian Witt.

Witt is also the Rams' weapon as a punter. He averaged between 35 and 40 yards a boot last year.

The Rams opened the season, as most did, before school starts Aug. 29.

"I love it. There are no distractions and after we win, it is great for team spirit," Dillon said.

Winning was something foreign to Grayslake until a certain night last September. A 6-0 win over St. Edward ended a 22-game losing streak. The Rams went on to down Northwest Suburban Conference rivals Johnburg, Wauconda and earn a forfeit win over Round Lake.

The Rams would love to reverse the 4-5 record of last year and are preparing to do just that.

Dohrman on NIU football roster

Eric Dohrman, a graduate of Antioch High School, is on the pre-season roster of Northern Illinois University's football team. Dohrman, a tight end, is a Lindenhurst resident and a freshman at NIU. The Huskies open the season at Mississippi State Aug. 31.

Antioch Lanes set registration for youth league

Antioch Bowling Lanes and Pro Show will be holding youth bowling registration for young people age 4 to 18.

Registration dates include: Aug. 26, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and Sept. 9, 10 a.m. to noon. Leagues start Sept. 16.

Area anglers cast for walleye

Two Antioch and Grayslake fisherman competed in the In-Fisherman Professional Walleye Trall Pro-Am in South Dakota.

Mike Gofron of Antioch finished 35th in the professional division by catching 63 pounds of fish in the three-day tournament. He ranks 11th overall on the professional circuit.

Bob Needles of Grayslake finished 50th in the amateur division of the tournament by catching 52 pounds of fish. He ranks 18th overall on the amateur circuit.

Olympian opens gymnastics wing

American Stars of Dance and Tumbling will be opening a new wing dedicated solely to gymnastics training. An open house will be held Aug. 26 from 1 to 3 p.m.

Former Olympic gymnast Debbie Bessette will be directing the gymnastics instruction. Bessette competed on the Dutch national team from 1978 to 1982.

The new wing will include parallel bars, uneven bars, vaults and horses. Rings may be added in the future.

Antioch 'D' remains solid; offensive line is skeptical

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch football players will be tested early as the Sequoia square off against perennial powerhouses Libertyville and Stevenson in their first two games of the season.

Taking the helm at QB and directing Antioch's wishbone-triple option offense is second-year starter Walter Martens.

"He's very good on decision making on our option offense," said Coach Del Pechauer. "He's a senior now and he's our leader."

Martens, however, will be pitching the ball to new running backs this season as last year's star back Brad Rubash has graduated.

The speedy Jim Groth is expected to take the ball to the outside and run. "He's fast," Pechauer said. "Jimmy is probably a tenth of a second slower than Rubash was but when he turns the corner...watch out."

Martens will be looking to Mike Mandro or John Migalla as the two fullbacks to power the ball through the line. "He's the guy who's going to have to lower his shoulders," Pechauer said of Migalla.

Down field, Martens will be searching for seniors Andy Davis or Dave Warren as wide receivers. Pechauer described Davis as having "great hands and good moves." Warren is the speed demon. Parker Barnett is expected to be the starting tightend.

Pechauer's main concern on offense is the line, which is junior dominated. Matt Henkel and Mario Venezia are the sole seniors. Juniors hoping to control the trenches are Dan Wiegel, Jeff Bringer, Brian Dembinski, Jason Ultes and Brandon Barker. Kyle Wisniewski, a sophomore, is also expected to learn the line this year.

"We're inexperienced, but we have some quickness and some size," Pechauer said.

On the other side of the line of scrimmage, Antioch has a bountiful of defenders returning.

The linebacking corps, especially, is expected to wreak havoc in the middle. Jason Breen and Gregg Laube will man the middle, while Kevin Arft and Ajredin Elez will handle the outside.

"We're quick at all four spots," said defensive coordinator Mike Gordy. "Breen is who we're going to spin everything around. He's a three-year varsity starter."

In the backfield, Andy Honaker will roam as the free safety, while Ron Werchek and Justin Ponze defend the corners. Gordy is also excited about Dave Gooch, a sophomore, developing into a star player. Gooch is also the second-string quarterback.

"He's a terrific athlete. He just hangs in the air, and he knows See SEQUOITS page A13

Fulbright to miss opener

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The Libertyville Wildcats will open the season against Antioch without star-studded quarterback Chris Fulbright.

Fulbright will start his third consecutive varsity season, but he will miss the first game. Fulbright, also a baseball star, was selected to compete in an All-Star game in California and he missed most of the first week of practice, making him ineligible to play in Saturday's game in Antioch.

During the Libertyville baseball season, Fulbright went undefeated 10-0 on the mound, batted .362 and hit five homeruns to lead the Wildcats. He also was selected to compete in a national baseball tournament earlier this summer.

"He's an outstanding athlete, and he is bigger and faster than he was last year, so we're looking forward to have him lead our offense again this year," said Libertyville Coach Randy Kuceyeski.

During his last two years as quarterback, Fulbright has passed for more than 2,000 yards.

Junior Andy Jansen will be making the calls at QB, Kuceyeski reported. Back-up quarterback R.J. Ward may also be called to duty.

With Fulbright at the helm, Libertyville blanked Antioch last year 28-0.

Experience, conditioning keys Antioch soccer

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Antioch High soccer has built a solid tradition, and Coach Brad Wilson said he wants to continue savoring that winning taste.

Last year, the Sequoits built an 18-4-2, 6-1 record and shared the North Suburban Conference title with Libertyville and Stevenson for the second consecutive year. Many of the players on that title team are returning this year.

All-Conference selections Brian Weeks and Scott Landgren will be leading the Sequoits on both ends of the field. Weeks is a forward, and Landgren is a defender.

Other lettermen returning include Cal Cruickshank, Tim Nelson and Mike Miclea on offense and Tad Harper and Bill Johnson on defense.

"With our experience returning, I think we're in better position than we were last year," noted Wilson.

Two other seniors with varsity experience but who could not play due to injury are Mike Kelly and Kevin Sparkman. "They'll offer good leadership to the team," Wilson said.

A number of juniors will be fighting for starting positions during the early going. They include Mike Lenczuk on defense, Chris Phillips at midfield, Kevin Chudd at forward and Steve Hovey at goalie.

"We have a small number of underclassmen, but we do have a group of juniors who will be playing," Wilson said. He has high hopes in Chudd scoring often for Antioch.

The coach said he likes the attitude of his players going into the season. "The kids want to play, and we have a very competitive group," Wilson said.

The strength of the team is on defense, where three varsity players from last year are returning, but Wilson said he also likes the potential of his halfbacks to create opportunities for the offense.

"We've got some good halfbacks who will help keep the ball up front on the offense," Wilson said.

He also believes this squad is in better physical condition which could help them at the end of the year. Antioch lost to Highland Park in the first round of the playoffs last year.

"We led up at the end of the year. This year, we're going to make sure that doesn't happen," Wilson said.

Again, Libertyville and Stevenson stand to be tough again. But Wilson said Warren and Lake Forest are two other teams to beat.

"I'm sure they'll be tough,"

Wilson said Libertyville and Stevenson. "We look forward to playing them, but everybody is going to be a good challenge for us."

Antioch opens the season at the Maine East tournament as the Sequoits strive for sole possession for the NSC crown.

Martinez hopes booters pick up where Rams left

The first stage for the 1995 boys soccer season is on schedule. New Coach Joe Martinez and assistant Dan Landry are judging talent as the Rams ready for the Aug. 30 opener at Woodstock.

"We just picked up where we left off two years ago," Martinez said. "The enthusiasm has been great and Coach Landry has done an excellent job during the exchange in keeping the kids going."

Martinez coached a group of six current Rams to an unbeaten season when they were freshmen. Martinez takes over the soccer team after Paul Missavage left to accept the head basketball coach position at Waukegan High.

Gone are the players which led the Rams to their first Northwest Suburban Conference title. Steve Prior and Rod Graves are no longer leading the green and white.

"Those are past glories," Martinez said.

Dan Buehler returns as one of the frosh phenoms of a few years ago. "He was one of the best equipped soccer players to come to Grayslake as a freshman. He has great skills. He will play halfback and forward," Martinez said.

Steve Rezmer is back from his sweeper position. "He is one of the strongest on the team. He is so solid," Martinez marveled.

Paul Eldridge, a senior fullback, also returns, sparking the offense. Speedster Peter Szentendrei, a forward, also adds an experienced threat to score.

Jason Patterson made a splash on the soccer scene last fall as a freshman. Expect bigger things this year from the Rams goalie, Martinez said.

"His quality of play is even better," Martinez said.

Patterson, who had club team experience before joining the Rams, fills a vital role for any soccer team.

"The goalie is always the biggest mystery of the team. You have to have a good goalie to win. It is the biggest headache for some coaches. Not too many people volunteer," Martinez said.

Martinez said defending the NWSC title, "will not be easy. We should be ready for them. There is no easy team," Martinez stated.

Antioch spikers feature familiar faces

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Antioch High's volleyball squad may have graduated five seniors, but a core of players are returning with ample varsity experience.

"What we have are some very capable players, so I think we'll be fine," commented volleyball Coach Gwen Varney.

Familiar faces to lead the Lady Sequoits again this year include Erin O'Connell, Julie Case, Mary Ipsen, Jenny Peterson and Melanie Rodgers. Jessica Brady, a transfer student from Waukegan, will also join the corps of seniors.

"Erin O'Connell is going to have an outstanding season," Varney noted. She also said Case has shined during practice, and Peterson has improved after playing club volleyball.

Juniors who could become regular forces include Liz Koeck, Carrie Kowalczyk, Jeanna Miller and Carrie Gofron. Both Miller and Gofron saw frequent playing time last year as sophomores.

Varney also said she likes the prospects of her two sophomores on the club, Jenny Cardis and Lisa Ipsen.

"We have quite a few kids who have at least some varsity experience," Varney said. "We'll have a whole new lineup. Everything is open."

During the early going, Varney said the main goal will be developing a consistent starting lineup and finding out where her players are most comfortable.

With Stevenson losing its star spiker in Tamika Catchings, and Mundelein and Libertyville graduating the bulk of their players, Varney said she likes Antioch's chances in the North Suburban Conference, yet she contends the conference will still be very competitive.

"I don't even want to venture a guess," Varney responded when asked how the conference could stack up.

Antioch's schedule is also less intense which Varney said should benefit the team down the stretch. Antioch will not play Highland Park or Deerfield this year, but picked up a tournament at Wilmet.

Volleyball Notebook: The Antioch volleyball team has built quite a loyal following of volleyball fans who have packed both home games and away games.

Varney had two answers for its recent fan support:

"It's the Spandex," she quipped.

On the more serious side, Varney said, "Volleyball is exciting to watch, and if you put out a good product, people will continue to come."

Antioch Boys volleyball still developing

There's an Antioch boys volleyball team?

Last year, girls volleyball Coach Gwen Varney introduced boys volleyball as a new spring sport as part of Antioch High School athletics. Libertyville, Mundelein, Lake Forest and Stevenson high schools also have boys volleyball teams in the North Suburban conference.

She is giving it a three-year period to develop into a full-fledged sport at Antioch. As an instructional sport last year, the team mainly practiced but played in one game.

This year, it is expected to develop into a junior varsity squad before becoming a full-scale varsity team by 1997.

"We had a good-sized turnout last year, and there was a big interest for it," Varney said. "It will be more fun as we get some more games."—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Murphy to lead girls golf as Sequoits open season

Antioch High School's girls golf team completed its double-session practices, and Coach Steve Wapon reports that 17 girls will be teeing off for the varsity and junior varsity teams this season.

Leading the Lady Sequoit linksters will be three-year varsity letter winner and team Most Valuable Player Sarah Murphy.

Wapon also noted that there is some "spirited competition" taking place among Jenny Barbera (freshman), Kelly Govekar (sophomore), Jamie Hope (junior), Kristen Hungarland (freshman), Carrie Noonan (freshman), Kacy Sehmer (freshman), and Amy Vanderkooy (sophomore) for the other varsity and junior varsity spots.

The Lady Sequoits opened its season at Spring Valley this week. They will host Carmel and Regina Dominican Aug. 30 before traveling to Wheeling Aug. 31.

what a quarterback is going to do on offense," Gordy said of Gooch's role on defense.

The defensive line features two behemoths in Joe Marcomb at 250 pounds and Ryan Sheehan at 230 pounds.

"It's going to be exciting," Gordy said. "Sheehan—you look at his frame, and he's a man. All he wants to do is collide."

Gordy also may ask fullbacks Mandro and Migalla to pull double duty as defensive ends.

Overall, Pechauer said he expects his team to be chasing Stevenson, Libertyville and possibly Zion-Benton.

"You want to at least beat the teams you are even with," Pechauer said. "To go to the playoffs, I think we have to at least beat Libertyville."

That match-up is Saturday in Antioch at 1 p.m.

Chipping away

Antioch's Jeff Crivello shows how to pitch out of a sand trap during the Lake County Golf Invitational at Renwood Country Club in Round Lake. The Sequoits placed ninth with a 336 total in the 17-team field. Antioch was led with a 79 by Shawn Hansen, an 80 by Crivello, a 90 from Steve Dreger and a 97 by Brett Cromeans. Last year's regional champ Stevenson continued its winning ways by posting the victory at the open. The Pats were led by medalist Rob Morini. He shot a 74. Warren took sixth, while Grant was 10th and Grayslake finished 12th. The meet, held on a 'perfect' day for golf, marked the start of the fall prep season. Relocation of Daniel Wright rock jars memory of local history

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

More than 160 years ago Daniel Wright, a former captain in the War of 1812, was in search of some cheap land and good hunting.

Living in Park Ridge at the time, the middle-aged Wright was already feeling the crunch of growth in Cook County. The Treaty of Chicago had been signed in 1833 between the U.S. government and the Potawatomi Indians, and that made the land in present day Lake County available for settlement.

Several settlers attempted to build in Lake County but couldn't handle the winter and quickly returned to Chicago. Not Wright, he traveled north on the Des Plaines River in 1834, survived the winter and built a cabin on a cozy plot along the river.

And so Lake County had its first permanent white settler. Albeit, Father Jacques Marquette and Louis Joliet traveled the Des Plaines and landed in Zion in 1679. Maps dating back to 1695 show a French Fort near present-day Waukegan, and fur traders and other transient types had built dingy posts throughout the 1700s.

But Daniel Wright is officially the first permanent resident in Lake County.

"People weren't supposed to come until 1836, but they came in anyway," noted archivist Diana Dretske at the Lake County Museum. "He got a lot of respect because he stayed over the harsh winter."

In 1909, the Lake County Historic Society honored Wright by dedicating a rock in his name. The "Daniel Wright Rock" had been located on Milwaukee Avenue and Aptakisic Road in Lincolnshire since 1909.

But last week, it was moved to the Ryerson Woods. Although the nearby Daniel Wright Forest Preserve is named after the county's first settler, parts of Ryerson Woods boast land that was once owned by Wright.

The move jarred the memory of Vernon Township Supervisor and State Senator William Peterson, who is quite familiar with the history of Vernon Township.

For example, Vernon Township draws its name from George Washington's home in Mt. Vernon, Va.

"The thinking is that Daniel Wright was from Mt. Vernon, Ohio, which was named after Washington's home at Mt. Vernon," Peterson said.

He pointed out that although never incorporated, Half Day was the first town in Lake County. Today, most of the town has been swallowed up by neighboring Vernon Hills and Lincolnshire.

Regardless, the Half Day Inn is still the oldest structure in Lake County; it was built prior to the Civil War. Half Day is where the first school was built in Lake County. The first marriage was also celebrated in Half Day.

As a stop on an old Indian trail, Half Day also became a stop for a stagecoach route. Consequently, Half Day seemed to be the likely location to station the first postmaster.

"What a lot of people don't realize is that Half Day is the cradle of history for Lake County. It was the birthplace of settlement," Peterson said. "There's a lot of history in Half Day."

Sprague School in Lincolnshire was named after Laura Sprague, the first teacher in Lake County. Many of the county's first settlers, including Wright and Sprague are buried in Vernon Township Cemetery. Their headstones can still be visited today.

The former Vernon Township Hall near Half Day School dates back to 1800s and is still standing today.

In fact, one of Vernon Township's most famous residents, former Illinois governor and Democrat presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, cast his votes in the old township hall polling place.

Oddly enough, the Republican incumbent at the time, Dwight D. Eisenhower, still carried Vernon Township in his favor, despite Stevenson residing in Vernon Township.

Some things never change.

Little bug may be answer to unwanted lake weeds

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

A little weevil is doing something wildlife biologists for years have been trying to do—kill an unwanted weed species while sparing the wanted aquatic plants.

This year, biologists discovered a weevil which eats the invasive Eurasian Millfoil. The weed spreads throughout a lake and destroys other plant species by taking all the sun.

"The weevil is very selective. It only eats Eurasian Millfoil and doesn't eat the other plant species," said Mark Pfister aquatic biologist for the Lake County Health Department.

When treating the mill foil with other chemicals such as Sonar or 24D, other plant species suffer some decline from those treatments.

Another problem with manually trying to kill the weed is it can grow again if it's cut off by a weed harvester. Millfoil will grow again and take over the area in which it grows, according to Pfister.

Two lakes in the area have active populations of the weevil. One is Druce Lake in the Village of Third Lake and McCollum Lake in McHenry. The two lakes have shown a slight decline in Eurasian millfoil.

Pfister said the one thing that these lakes have in common is they have had no chemical treatments applied to them which appears to have helped spur the population of weevils. Those lakes which experienced chemical treatments don't seem to have the weevils.

Eurasian millfoil takes over the lake because it has no natural enemies. It grows and moves into areas with desirable weeds.

'The weevil is very selective. It only eats Eurasian Millfoil and doesn't eat the other plant species.'

— Mark Pfister,
aquatic biologist
Lake County Health Department.

Antioch, Ill. Pfister said of the weed.

He said the millfoil not only makes it difficult on aquatic plants, but inhibits fishing and other recreational activities.

Scientists will closely monitor the two lakes to determine the weevils effectiveness. In the meantime, Pfister cautions the weevil shouldn't be considered the end all cure for millfoil.

He added all the ones brought to captivity have vanished. Biologists can't keep the pinhead sized bugs alive in captivity with what they feed them.

"Either they got away or they met their maker," Pfister quipped.

Safety course for boaters could become law

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

If County Board Member Judy Martini (R-Antioch) has her way, a mandatory safety course for boaters and jet skiers will become a law.

And, with the issue moving out of the County's Law and Judicial Committee and into the Legislative Committee, the concept is slowly making its way to Springfield.

"I am not reinventing the wheel here," said Martini. "Other states already have similar laws."

What is motivating Martini is the number of accidents on Lake County waterways. "I really believe two-thirds of the accidents last year were caused by wave runners. Visitors come to the area and rent them without having a clue about the laws and regulations out there on the water. We have to educate them," she said.

The plan is to use the existing bureaucracies to require those on the water to either take a boater safety course or a test. In either case, boaters would then be required to show their licenses to marine officers.

"Everything is already in place," said Martini. "Drivers licenses can include the letter 'B' to indicate the person is eligible to operate a boat. The Coast Guard is already offering the boat safety courses."

Martini said county officials are looking at the legislation passed in other states. If the concept is given approval from the Legislative Committee, it will then be discussed by the full board. From there, sponsors will be found to take the plan to Springfield.

Youth program unlocks potential in participants

NEAL TUCKER

Grayslake Middle School teacher Barry Gold can sum up the Warrior program in one event. He, Grayslake Detective Doug Hess and nine Middle School sixth-graders were in Wisconsin for a weekend of physical challenge.

One of the boys, Tony Roman, saw one of the obstacles—two parallel trees soaring upward—and was dead set against climbing them.

"He looked at it and said 'I'm not doing that,'" Gold recalled.

The other boys proceeded to climb the trees to dizzying heights. Roman changed his mind and tackled the trees, the metaphor that represented his fear. He succeeded.

"The key to the whole program was the look on his face when he went up and came back down," Gold said.

The weekend retreat to Tomah, Wis., was the culminating event of the first year program aptly titled the Warrior Program. Gold says the program's title does not come from the desire to create war-like individuals, but is intended to demonstrate strong qualities in character.

Most children, if not all, are struggling with self-confidence as they grow into the rapidly changing world of adolescence. By the time people reach adulthood, most of the self doubt that leads to the common indiscretions of youth are hopefully alleviated.

Gold says the few students that could be chosen for the warrior program are not necessarily exemplary students, but are by no means considered malcontents either. Gold says the boys are good kids and were chosen for participation because they fit a profile that indicated they would best be in a position to benefit from what the program had to offer.

"I would describe them as young men who need this type of physical and mental challenge to develop the way they need to," Gold said.

Part of the mental challenge came in the form of discipline. Gold, a former army officer, has signs about his room such as "Gold's World" and "No Guts, No Glory." The boys learned what honor meant from pyramid charts and from real experience. To grasp the concept of honor the boys first had to explore obligation, courage, and justice. To grasp those concepts they first discussed a plethora of others.

The hands-on activities to demonstrate these abstract principles, in addition to the weekend camp out, came in the form of martial arts activities, hockey games, a barbecue and games of skill. Each of the games were designed for failure unless the players followed the team approach. When one of the boys did another a wrong turn, the ensuing discussion about trust and justice became that week's object lesson.

Even though the program followed a strict code, it was also designed to be fun. Hess said the program had to be altered continually to be more hands on than he and Gold had originally intended. Meeting on a weekly basis the participants get to know that Gold's dry, self-deprecating style of humor is rife with double entendres that disarms the hardest heart. Hess talked with the boys about his family, rode his racing bike, and drove his collection of Z-28s whenever possible to show them the personal side of the police officer.

Possibly the greatest success of the Warrior program can be measured in its ability to help the boys unlock the confidence and maturity they already possessed. Debbie Herwerth, said she let her son, Brian, go to Great America by himself for the first time this summer. He also went camping, something she says she couldn't bring herself to allow before. She gives credit to the Warrior program for helping her see her son is responsible and for getting her to loosen the reigns of protectiveness.

"I wish it (the Warrior program) was all summer long," Debbie Herwerth said.

Village outlaws drug goods

VERNON HILLS—The Village of Vernon Hills enacted a new ordinance which makes it unlawful for any person to possess or sell any instrument adapted for the use of smoking, inhaling or ingesting any controlled substance. The ordinance lists devices such as plastic and ceramic pipes and bongs to roach clips and cocaine spoons as drug paraphernalia to be prohibited. Police officials said courts often dismiss cases of drug possession when police confiscate drug paraphernalia with residues of drugs. Police said the new ordinance will make it illegal to possess such devices in Vernon Hills, and offenders can at least be charged with a local violation.

Grayslake man killed

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake police are still awaiting toxicology results from the Lake County Coroner's office on a Grayslake man killed by a train early Saturday morning. Stephen Ring, 21 was run over by a north bound Wisconsin Central freight train while lying unconscious on the tracks at 12:27 a.m. According to the train's engineer, Ring was lying between the tracks with his feet on one of the rails. The accident occurred just 100 feet south of the Lake St. crossing. Grayslake Police Sergeant Matt McCutcheon confirmed a coroner's report that said the injuries to the body were only consistent with the train accident and did not indicate signs of foul play. McCutcheon said the police are awaiting the toxicology report to determine if alcohol played a part in the accident. He said the train tracks represent a logical direction for Ring to be walking home.

Trustee quizzes tree plan

GURNEE—Gurnee trustee Robert Amaden questioned the village's tree ordinance and a developer's tree preservation plan. Gurnee Village Board members approved the second phase for Providence Oaks, located north of Route 120 and east of O'Plaine Road. The 57-lot subdivision on 23.4 acres is being built by Landmark Homes. "What percentage of the trees are being save?" Amaden questioned. Mike Mader, vice president of Landmark Homes, told the board snow fences are being used around trees to be saved and the village's tree ordinance requirements are being met.

Gurnee funds BASSETT course

GURNEE—The Village of Gurnee will be footing the bill for the first round of training for tavern managers. Gurnee will pay $480 towards the cost of the first BASSETT - Beverage Alcohol Sellers and Servers Education and Training. The course is offered through the College of Lake County. Gurnee will pay for one person from each establishment to attend. "They would be responsible for the second fee," James Hayner, village administrator, said. "We should pay it because we made it mandatory," Verna Rocheleau, village trustee, said. Gurnee has amended its liquor license laws, requiring a 2 a.m. closing on weekends and 1 a.m. on weekdays.

Pecore verdict announced

COUNTY—"Homicide" was the verdict at a Lake County jury's inquest on Ronald Pecore. The verdict was announced last week at a Lake County Coroner's inquest. In the early morning hours of July 7, Pecore, 47, was found dead at railroad tracks between Rtes. 120 and 134 in Hainesville. Gary Matney, 34, of Hainesville was arrested by village police the following day and charged with aggravated battery. By July 10 the Lake County State's Attorney's office upgraded the charges to first degree murder. Matney is currently being held in the Lake County Jail on $3 million bond. The Matney murder trial will begin Sept. 18 at the Lake County Courthouse.

Board decides fate of project

ANTIOCH—The Antioch Village Board approved the rezoning of 3.6 acres of property owned by School District 34. Residents were angered by the decision which will allow apartments to built near the elementary schools. Jeering and grumbling followed the vote. Monday night. One woman left yelling, "Wait until the next election. Wait until the next election."

Kristof's win case in court

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Kristof's Entertainment & World of Fun successfully defended their operation of go-carts in the Second Appellate Court. Owner Tom Kristof said his business all along has complied with village ordinances since go-carts opened in the late 1980s. In 1994, the village board gave Kristof's a special use permit to operate go-carts at a decibel reading of 65. A Lake County Circuit Court had ruled earlier that the Charles Wilson, who is suing Kristof's, and trying to shut them down, did get an order for 55 decibels. Both parties appealed to the Appellate Court where Kristof's prevailed.

Protester charges dropped

WAUCONDA—Charges were dropped against three people who protested the Wauconda Rodeo held earlier this summer. The Lake County State's Attorney's office decided to drop charges against Greg Campbell of Barrington, Mike Durschmid of Glen Ellyn and Steve Hindi of Plano. Michael Waller, Lake County state's attorney, said there was insufficient evidence to prosecute. Hindi said it was a conspiracy among the rodeo organizers and officers to quiet them.

Village opposes 911 plan

LAKE ZURICH—Village trustees are opposing an Ameritech plan before the Illinois Commerce Commission that would send all emergency 911 cellular calls to the Lake County Sheriff's Department. Doing this would give all the money from the call to the county and leave the communities that actually handle rescue calls with all the work, village officials said. The county does not have any emergency fire or rescue squads, and would dispatch them to the local authority, causing time delays, said Frederick J. Clauser, Lake Zurich police chief.

Grayslake building new hall

GRAYSLAKE—Amidst all the public buildings going up in Grayslake, the village itself broke ground on a new village hall as a culmination of the Centennial Celebration festivities. Village officials examined village hall facilities in communities throughout Lake County to arrive at a design for the new building. The two story structure, which is actually slightly smaller than the current village hall, will feature a larger board room and community room. When construction is complete in mid-1996, the current village hall will become the new quarters for the Grayslake Police Department, effectively tripling the space for that growing force.

New grocery coming soon

MUNDELEIN—Improving the intersection at Route 176 and Midlothian Road could bring a new Dominick's Fresh Store to the Village of Mundelein. "The way the intersection is today, it is sub-standard and under current conditions can not accommodate the current traffic flow," said the attorney for Mid-Northern Equities, Ltd., David Shaw. Mid-Northern Equities believes it will cost a little over $1 million to upgrade the intersection and they are willing to put the money into the intersection, then have the village pay them back with sales tax revenue. Mundelein trustees have been working with Mid-Northern Equities and the funding and came up with another alternative to the $1 million in sales tax.

Greenbelt cultural activity center architect selected

A nationally recognized architectural team will lead development of a new Cultural Activity Center at Greenbelt Forest Preserve near Waukegan and North Chicago, following action taken by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners.

A contract with Teng and Associates, Inc. was approved to provide planning, architectural and engineering services for the planned Cultural Activity Center at a cost of $94,410.

Teng and Associates, Inc. was selected by the Greenbelt Cultural Activity Center Planning Advisory Committee, comprised of government and community leaders from Waukegan, North Chicago and Lake County. Teng was chosen for their experience in community consensus building, architectural design and construction management of public buildings.

The Greenbelt Cultural Activity Center was approved by Lake County voters as part of the successful 1993 forest preserve bond referendum to fund purchase of additional land and improvement and restoration of existing forest preserves. Groundbreaking for the new center is scheduled for March 1996, with construction to follow later in the year.

The 559-acre Greenbelt Forest Preserve currently has a wide variety of recreation facilities available, such as fishing lakes, picnic shelters, multi-purpose trails and trailside exhibits. Additional information is available by calling the Lake County Forest Preserves at 367-6640.

Voters miss boat in placing blame

Taxpayers have it all wrong when they direct their anger and frustration over the building binge that has engulfed Lake County at school officials, typically voting down tax referenda presented to provide for the incessant torrent of new students as an expression of protest.

More correctly, they should take to task village and county officials who are the enablers and approvers of the avalanche of growth and development of the past decade that is creating the urban environment so many persons sought to escape.

Elected officials sitting on village boards and representatives in county government appear to be unaware of the connection between all the new rooftops and strip malls, and the crowded classrooms that produce real estate taxes that are spiraling to dizzy new heights. Or maybe they don't care?

In truth, school officials are basically passive players in the build-out chase. In a way that is so troubling, their response is more and bigger bond issues to build more and bigger schools. There isn't much more they can do other than lobby for impact fees and negotiate donations from kindly developers.

In the Warren Township High School Dist., where voters will be asked Nov. 7 to approve a $36 million bond issue to build a second campus to serve the growth-happy Gurnee area, Board of Education President Richard Grabowski spoke of the dilemma facing schools in words that deserve repeating.

"There are a lot of kids out there to educate and it's not the board of education's fault," Grabowski stated. "We don't develop land or build subdivisions. We don't lure people into our community to build homes and come to the schools. We didn't bring this mess to the people." As a backdrop to the Warren High bond issue, voters in a portion of the district, Woodland Elementary, will be asked to approve a $35 million building referendum this fall. Talk about a double whammy for homeowners in both districts.

Grabowski stopped short of naming names, but his observation was aimed directly at Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton and village trustees who have orchestrated the growth and development. By changing the place names and inserting different amounts, Grabowski's remarks would be applicable to practically every other community in the county.

If village and county officials have missed the connection between more rooftops and ever crowded classrooms, then so have the voters who keep electing to office growthers and representatives who are insensitive to public education problems. In short, voters have only themselves to blame.

Too often in this equation, both taxpayers and elected officials turn to Springfield for a bail out. For a number of years now, the response in Springfield boils down to this: It's your town. You asked for it. Now pay the bills. The paradox is that the development craze is a suburban phenomenon.

A harsh reaction? Perhaps. But true. Wouldn't it be interesting if the school board and the village board changed places? Even for just awhile?

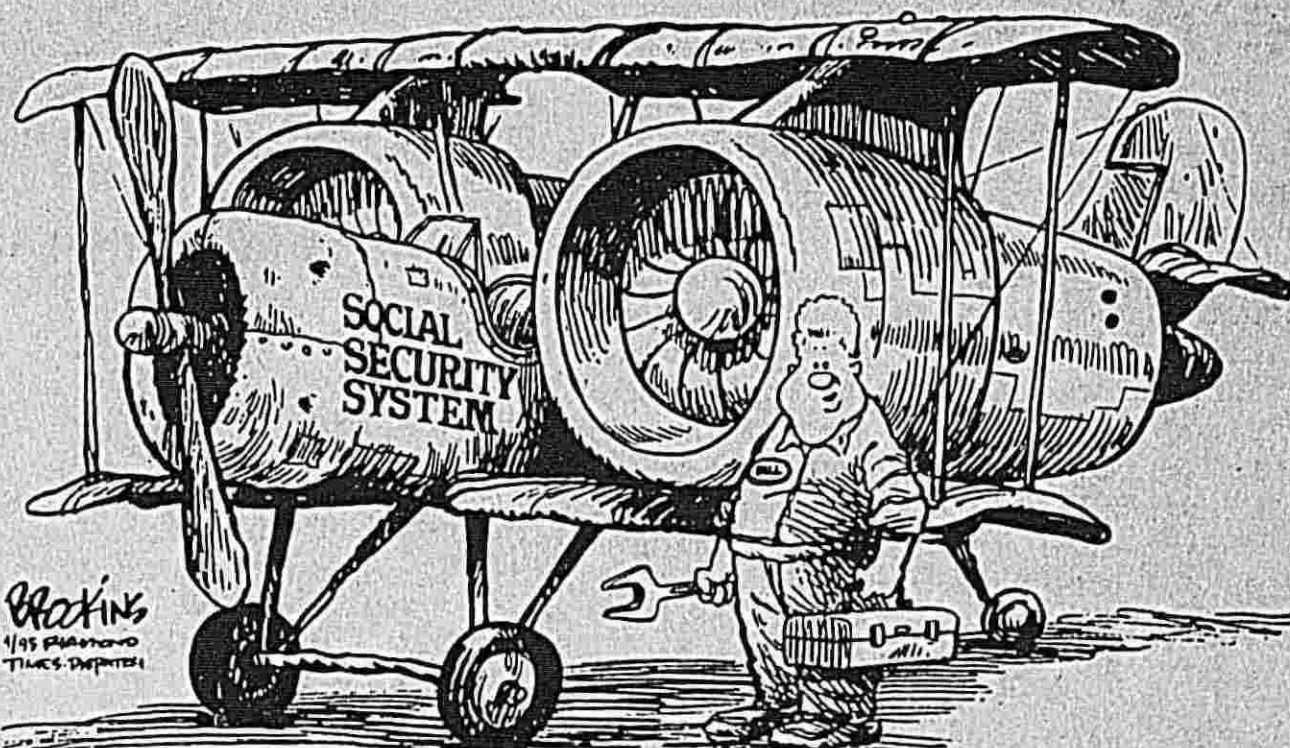

National paradox: falling standards

Since the imposition of Great Society welfarism in the 1960s, the U.S. government has been burgeoning while the American economy has been slogging along.

Therein lies the paradox where economic indicators say things are good while many Americans counter that things aren't so good. A study of the what's happened with the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) quickly reveals the culprit. GDP today is a little more than half of what it was between 1947 and 1966. What this translates into is a decline in the standard of living.

Because of robust growth and development, Lake County residents have been insulated against the disastrous effects of a decline in GDP. We only read about and hear about how the decline has undermined family income and lifestyles in other parts of the nation.

U.S. Sen. Connie Mack (R-Fla.), a key spokesman on business conditions, blames confiscatory taxes, excessive government spending, onerous regulations and mandates, and other impediments to entrepreneurship. Unless

—Viewpoint— LaVista made CLC truly community

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Scores of friends Tuesday evening said goodbye to Dr. Daniel LaVista and his wife, Rosemary, at a reception at Country Squire. In a few days, LaVista will start a new job as head of the Baltimore, Md., community college system after serving as president of College of Lake County for the past eight years.

LaVista did a lot of things for CLC. He built buildings, attracted outstanding faculty, enhanced minority opportunity, expanded the campus and programs, obtained funding in an increasingly hostile environment toward public education, and expanded the school's cultural pursuits.

One of LaVista's most notable accomplishments and probably most over-looked achievements was extending CLC's reach into every corner of the county. CLC became truly a community college under LaVista's leadership.

That happened because LaVista is a "main street guy," at home in the local coffee shop discussing education, politics, philosophy or whatever came up, as well as dealing with academic intricacies of modern public education.

It was a great eight years. Good luck Dan and Rosemary.

REMEMBER DEBBIE—The idea of establishing some kind of memorial in honor of the late Debbie Mullen deserves a quick second. A Mundelein business and civic leader, Debbie lost a long battle with cancer recently. She was one of the sparks behind the formation of Mundelein Pride, a group organized to revitalize the downtown. A professional florist and floral designer, Debbie promoted fine arts projects. She is survived by her husband, Raymond, and four children. She was 41.

FULL CIRCLE—Many of the ideas espoused by Congressman

Phil Crane (R-Ill.) are so old they're new. Like abolishing the National Endowment for the Arts, privatizing the post office and doing away with the CIA. Phil hasn't changed, but the political scene sure is different from his days as a Congressional freshman.

GOOD SPORT—Rear Adm. Patricia Tracey, new commander of Great Lakes Naval Training Center, proved to be a good sport when she gamely hung on to an umbrella when a shower cooled off things at the Grayslake Centennial parade where she was reviewing officer. One of the memorable moments of the parade came when a retired Navy chief in crisp summer whites stepped up to the reviewing stand, snapped a smart salute and called out, "Welcome to Great Lakes, admiral." Admiral Tracey immediately stepped forward and returned the salute.

GRAMM COUNTRY—Lake County's professional Republicans may be lined up behind U.S. Sen. Bob Dole for the presidential nomination, but supporters of U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm aren't about to be bowled over. They packed a bus in Libertyville early last Saturday morning for the long trek to Ames, Ia., to vote for their favorite in the presidential straw poll. Gramm responded by mingling freely with the county contingent at a pork barbecue before the speech making began. All agreed that Gramm's a "regular guy."

UP FOR ACTION—Steve Young, one of Lakeland Newspapers' ace sports photographers, is living proof of the old adage, "You can't keep a good man down." The Antioch resident will be patrolling the football sidelines this fall for action photos with one arm in a sling.

Steve's left arm was shattered in a fiery automobile crash on rainy Rte. 12 in Wisconsin that took the lives of his fiancée, Barbara, and the driver of the other car, who lost control on the slippery road and skidded into the path of Steve's car. Young believes his companion's life might have been spared had his older model car been equipped with air bags. As it was, the split second that it takes for seat belts to lock was enough to inflict fatal head injuries.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Our tow-headed granddaughter, Erika, will be attracting a lot of attention this weekend. It's birthday time! We'll find out what's on the mind of a two-year-old. Only we won't be able to understand a whole lot about what she's saying.

-PARTY LINES-

Crane disavows urging to run for veep job

Party Lines, Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

"Thank you. That was nice. But I'm happy where I am."

That is the way Congressman Phil Crane (R-Ill.) is responding to suggestions these days that he consider becoming a candidate for vice president in 1996.

Crane is no neophyte in national politics. Twenty-five years ago he sought the presidency.

The veteran lawmaker is enjoying his new role as second in seniority on the House Ways and Means Committee. Crane told a luncheon meeting of the Mundelein-Vernon Hills Rotary that ways and means is one of the two most powerful committees in Congress.

"The House is where the power is these days. The presidency is an irrelevancy the way things are going," Crane jolted the Rotarians with the observation that a Clinton re-election wouldn't slow down the Republican steamroller from reorganizing the federal government.

Back in harness—Reports are that Grace Mary Stern will be playing an increasingly active role in Lake County Democratic politics, particularly who's chosen to run for county offices in 1996. Stern has been restless since leaving the Illinois Senate. "Have you noticed how Grace Mary has been 'tuning up' on the barrage of criticism heaped on County Clerk Willard Helander?" One insider remarked that County Board Rep. Carol Spielman (D-Highland Park) didn't initiate the fray on her own.

Aln't funny—A joke going around is that Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra has more heavy hitters lined up for his U.S. senate bid in Illinois than Bob Dole has for his presidential run. And he's paying them more, too. Where does this leave Al Salvi? Not Kustra on easy street! Salvi is expected to get most of the political money ultra-conservatives and pro-life forces can gather—if he chooses to make a fight in the primary.

Salvi report—You have to work overtime to keep up with the Al Salvis these days. Besides State Rep. Al's eye on a U.S. Senate seat, Kathy Salvi is packing for a trip to Beijing, China to attend the United Nation's 4th World Conference on Women Sept. 5 to 15. That trip might take Al out of the political swim momentarily to mind the five young Salvis. But don't count on it, not with phones, FAX and mail.

Rumor mill sunk—A story about Lake Zurich Mayor Deborah A. Vasels pushing for a consolidated public works facility in an industrial park in order to remove a public works garage next to a home she purchased is "hog-wash," according to the mayor. She and her husband "looked" at a home in the area of the Lions Drive Garage, but did not purchase it, she said. The Vasels' have lived in the same home for 10 years and from time to time, like many other families, look at other larger homes within the village.

She still supports a consolidated facility, but for far different reasons. Making a more efficient department and saving tax payers money as well as keeping a commitment to removing all public works facilities from residential neighborhoods are among the reasons she supports the facility.

The facility has been pulled back from what was said to be a "Taj Mahal" in 1990, but is far from getting approval from a clearly indecisive board.

Half Day history—The movement of the famed "Daniel Wright Rock" from former Half Day to the Ryerson Woods sparked some historic tidbits about Half Day from State Sen. William Peterson (R-Long Grove). Although never incorporated, Half Day is the first and oldest town in Lake County. It was first settled by Daniel Wright in 1834. Half Day is where the first school was built, the first marriage was celebrated, and the first township hall was erected. As a stop on a former Indian trail, Half Day became the likely location to station the county's first postmaster. The Half Day Inn still stands as the oldest structure in Lake County.

"What a lot of people don't realize is that Half Day is the cradle of history for Lake County. It was the birthplace for settlement," Peterson said. "There's a lot of history in Half Day."

Some of the first settlers, including Wright, are buried in Vernon Township Cemetery near Lincolnshire.

Baseball strikes out: A sign will be installed at Old Plank Park regarding baseball play at the Wildwood Park. Neighbors have attended park board meetings and stated their property has been damaged with errant hits. Young Mark Graces will be told to play at larger parks such as Willow or Twin Lakes.

"They are also afraid of safety of their children. Commissioners visited the park but did not see any baseball being played. They decided that may have been due to the heat at that time," JoAnne Ellison, park manger, said.

One wonders if such a sign should be placed at Wrigley Field, considering the Cubs' slide in the wild card race.

Blarney Island bash—Jack "Red" Anderson, the Lake County Treasurer will have his annual fund raiser at Blarney Island on Wednesday, Aug. 30 from 3 to 8 p.m. Tickets are $15 each or two for $25 and may be purchased on that day on the island. Tickets include a cheeseburger, fries, beer, wine or pop. Boats for the island will be leaving from the Port of Blarney on Grass Lake Road west of Hwy. 59.

Letting off steam—The Lake County Democratic Party has an open invitation for residents to say their piece over breakfast Sept. 16 at Raffaelli's in Libertyville. Grace Mary Stern, former state senator and Lake County Clerk will speak briefly and lead a "no-holds 'barred'" discussion of where the county is going. The party is billing the event as an opportunity for the public to have real input to the "only organization that can really change things, the Lake County Democratic Party." Tickets are $10. For reservations and information call 623-4656.

-LETTERS TO THE Editor-

Tobacco curb overdue

Editor:

Finally, under the initiative announced by President Clinton, the federal government is recognizing tobacco for what it is: A powerfully addictive killer.

Doctors, after years of advising, cajoling and virtually pleading with our patients to quit, applaud this unprecedented effort. The tobacco industry, through insidious marketing directed at our children, has entrapped too many generations of Americans to nicotine addiction. The time has come to break the chain. The way to do it is by stopping our children from ever starting to smoke in the first place.

It is wrong that a dangerous drug proven to kill has escaped the scrutiny the government places on orange juice and aspirin. Yet the tobacco industry for decades has used its multi-million-dollar political clout to avoid reasonable oversight.

The regulation of nicotine as a drug—and the curbing of the tobacco industry's most malignant marketing practices against young people—are no less courageous for being so long overdue.

Willard's doing fine

Editor:

The Lake County Democrat Party is crying sour grapes over their loss of the one and only county office they held in Lake County—the loss of the Lake County Clerk's office.

The charade they are performing regarding the recent reorganization of the Lake County Clerk's office is a disgrace to the citizens of Lake County. Last November, I joined with the majority of voters in electing Willard Helander with the understanding that she would reorganize the Clerk's office to provide for a professional staff that ran efficiently and was customer friendly.

Willard Helander is doing exactly as we elected her to do...creating a smaller government bureaucracy with effective, professional workers who are capable of handling multiple tasks while saving us, the taxpayers, money.

Congratulations Willard. Keep up the great work

Helander saving money

Editor:

It is extremely refreshing to see an elected official following through with their campaign promise.

During her election, Mrs. Helander spoke of bringing the Lake County Clerk's office into the 21st century. Today, she is overseeing the installation of the first computer system for the clerk's office and implementing a staff reorganization that provides a professional, friendly and knowledgeable service. While doing this, Mrs. Helander is watching the bottom line, and saving us, the taxpayer, money.

I applaud Mrs. Helander's leadership and professionalism.

Fear Medicare rationing

Editor:

Most older Americans are unaware that Medicare is in danger of financial collapse. I urge you to run stories alerting senior citizens in our community about this crisis.

Congress must not "fix" Medicare as they have in the past. Simply cutting spending in Medicare will lead to rationing.

I support the position of the Seniors' Coalition to give the option of innovative free market choices in health care, or allow me to stay on Medicare if I want to. Please call their Washington office at 1-800-273-9009 for more information on their solution to the crisis.

Paradox

changes are enacted to reduce taxes, cut over-regulation, and lower government spending, there is only one conclusion that can be made about the future.

The sad part is that American know how and technology has resulted in great strides in productivity. Everyone is working harder. Unfortunately, governmental drains on the economy are superceding the productive efforts of the private sector.

Even with these facts as a backdrop, liberals and Democratic leaders in Congress continue the unabated bashing of Republican efforts to change the economic equation so that Americans can reap the harvest of their labors. Fortunately, more and more Americans understand modern economics. They recognize the promises of the past have failed. This understanding is the driving force of national politics today.

Ohio's state treasurer, Ken Blackwell, is attaining a national reputation as a noteworthy spokesman for "devolution," the assumption of federal programs by state and local government through transfer and privatization. Blackwell argues in favor of balanced budget requirements with three-fifths or two-thirds supermajorities for tax increases.

In a nationally distributed paper on shrinking government, Blackwell offered the chilling report that the average American family now spends 40.2 percent of its income in taxes, more than the costs of food, clothing and shelter combined. Is it any wonder that the standard of living is declining?

What Democratic leaders don't know and what Republicans sometimes forget is that Americans are wise to what's happening. And they are voting accordingly.

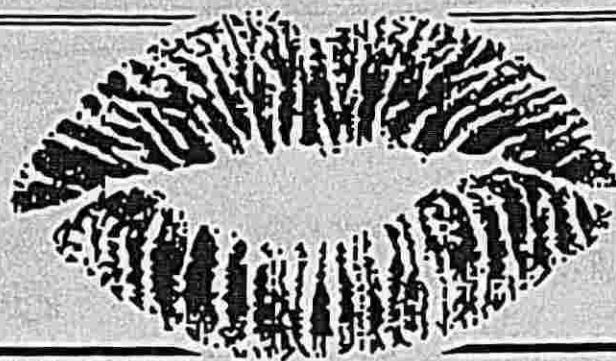

While people are working for balanced budgets and supermajority requirements in their local and state governments, Blackwell outlines an interesting theory: This way they will be involved in national politics, yet working on the local level.

That way no one is left out!

Church chatting

I would like to agree with Church Chat. I think it was a very good place that was put in here. I would like to concur with it and also to see more advertisements for the area churches.

Rusty watch

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors for showing me the article about the Doberman puppy, named Rusty, who was found in horrible conditions at the hands of her owner. Thanks to the care of the Lake County Animal Control she has regained her health. But Rusty's fight is not over. Her owner is to appear in court Oct. 6 in an effort to regain Rusty. Don't let Rusty be subjected to a second horror. I urge everyone to speak out in Rusty's support.

Rained out

I would like to make a comment about the Lake County Fair. I'm a senior citizen. I saved my money to take my grandchildren and my daughter to the fair this year. We were there for about ten minutes because it started to rain. I asked for the rain tickets and they said no, too bad. I thought that was really pretty poor. It might not affect everybody, but I'm saving my money to take my kids to the fair and it closes, with no rain check. I think they should change that policy or not sell tickets when they are getting ready to close.

Well puppy

I'd like to thank Neal Tucker for following up on the Doberman puppy abuse case. It was very heartwarming to see a picture of a very healthy puppy after the horrid conditions that I read about in the first article of how the dog was treated by its owner. Thanks, Neal, for following up and good luck to the puppy and hopefully a new home.

Lipservice corrupt

Unlike many of your callers, I am not afraid or ashamed to be accountable for my public statements. In fact, the subject of my call is the lack of integrity represented by this "Lip Service" column. It is irresponsible of Lakeland Newspapers to perpetuate the spread of innuendo, gossip, half truths, and slander by continuing to publish this column. These are the things that legitimate journalists are supposed to earnestly strive to avoid. I cannot imagine a reputable publication giving license for anyone to pontificate their personal opinions in a public forum without accepting responsibility by identifying themselves. Just like anonymous letters, the irresponsible rhetoric in this column should be ignored by sensible people. They appeal only to the most corrupt part of our nature—that part which good people strive to overcome. Editor's Note: This caller included his name and requested that it be published. The caller is Larry Thompson. Thanks for calling.

Campaign favors

Residents of Round Lake Heights don't get the service that local contractors get. Recently, a local contractor got his garage demolished by the village at taxpayers expense—no fees, no demolition permit. This weekend, a prominent Realtor got a tree stump removed from his front yard. Taxpayers can pay for it, come on, be fair to us, not just your local businessmen and not just the people that contribute to your campaign. We pay taxes, we deserve that service.

Little Indians

Will somebody please take the initiative to tell these people that go into Aldi or Kmart with their children to keep them under control. Those kids are like little Indians. Can they please control those children?

Big top

Hey, Avon Youth Township Baseball, put a tent over your circus. I find it utterly repulsive that a manager who repeatedly violated in Pinto is still allowed on the field as a coach or manager. Regarding the issue at the last board meeting, how could four people hear that the game was called a forfeit on the mound when the Cubs staff of two did not? Explain that. How come the other twelve teams followed the rotation rules? Why were the Cubs the only team who did not rotate their players during the regular season? Pinto is an instructional program which, according to the Cubs staff, teaches them how to not play by the rules. Put a tent over your circus already. Avon Youth Township Youth Baseball Board and get some backbone and stick up for these people. Enough is enough.

Grateful death

I can't understand all the fuss over the death of Jerry Garcia from the Grateful Dead. He was nothing but a drug addict and I am grateful he is dead.

Just a game

I agree with "It is just a game." We should all be keeping our best interests in mind. That includes the coaches and parents who push the kids to win at all cost and just don't make the game fun anymore. It includes the people who humiliated the kids when they were doing their best or, God forbid, made a bad play or didn't throw the best pitch. At least our team enjoyed playing the game, which was all it was and made some good friends and so did the parents. It's too bad some of the so-called adults in the league can't look at it in the same way in reference to the controversy mentioned in the previous call. The manager and coach were not arguing a call, they were arguing a safety issue—not just for our child but for all of yours and at least we never had parents arguing about safe or not, when there is still a child laying on the ground hurt. I also think, if you want to complain about staff, teams, maybe you should be at the draft yourself or make a complaint to the president. But then you'd be proven wrong and couldn't complain about it could you? I think it is time that all the parents and coaches grow up and let the children play the game because that is all it is.

Beautiful to some

Once again I took my family to the Lindenfest beauty pageants. I have for the past several years to watch who was going to represent me and the town I live in. Where did the park district get these judges? I would think they would get people who don't live within a 15-mile radius. Don Zeman lives in Antioch, teaches at the high school and is the director of the Antioch Park District, hence the key word, Antioch. I would think Lindenhurst would want a representative who was beautiful and has great stage presence. Obviously the beauty in beauty pageant doesn't mean anything. Good luck to the winners, I believe they need it. This is one family who will not be back. According to the audience, I think they agree with me.

Back up

This is for the red car that was driving backwards behind the Moose Lodge on Friday, August 11. There was a person walking back there with a bike, and if it wasn't for a bike, he would have hit me. So next time you back into a parking lot, could you look before you do so.

Age-old war

This is about the men "ogling" thing. I'll be the first to admit that men do stare at women—especially when they are with their buddies drinking beer. It's almost instinct. Besides its fun! But women are worse when it comes to an ogle or stare. I've seen plenty of women drool over a guy in tight jeans—heck that's why I wear them. And when women get together with their pack of friends they are much more obvious, obnoxious, crude and loud than us guys. Women also tend to pinch, fondle, and touch but when guys do it to women, the cops get called or we get a face full of pepper spray! So it needs to be made clear that women are just as if not more guilty of "ogling." Don't get me started at who's worse at commitment or relationships.

Thanks

I am calling to say thank you to the Round Lake Police Department and to some of the best neighbors that anyone could ask for. Recently my husband's boat motor was stolen from our property and thanks to neighbors who paid attention and were able to give information about the people. Thanks to them and to Sergeant Judd who followed up on their leads, we were able to get our motor back. It is such a great feeling to know that people still look out for each other. And to Sergeant Judd, you are a great asset to our town. It is nice to know that police are out doing their job. Police get bad reps but very seldom do they get praised for their hard work and time. Keep up the good work and God bless you all.

League unfair

Attention Parents: If you want your children to not play baseball the way Avon Township does it, please remember that Avon Youth Township Baseball doesn't stand for being fair because they will allow teams to break rules during a championship game and get away with it and be considered co-champions. Your child can sign up to play and he will not be allowed to be played evenly just like all the players. Pay your fee and have your kid sit. If you don't have your kid pay and play, then don't sign them up for Avon Township because they will sit and they won't do anything about it.

Don't be cruel

This is to the guy who tied his dog to a tree at the Vernon Hills Park District a couple of Sundays ago. Next time you do that think about whether you like to be tied to a tree in the 90 degree weather without any water.

Two way street

Response to Slow Down. Obviously you don't know that you should teach your kids to stay off the street and that is what their problem is, you, not your kids. You talk about being responsible, but it goes both ways, both for the driver to be alert and the parents to train their kids in safety and teach them what the public roads are designed to do. I have noticed that the pets have been trained. I have seen the dogs and cats staying off the streets. Maybe the kids aren't as smart. We'll see.

limit. This is for all of you. First it is illegal to go 10 miles under the speed limit and secondly, I am not a speed demon but when I'm going to work and especially going home I at least want to go the speed limit. To all of you people who don't go the speed limit, please stay off the roads and out from in front of me. I'm not asking anyone to exceed the speed limit, and in the snow and rain, I can understand, but its people like you that cause traffic jams, I think that you should either do the speed limit or stay off the roads.

Say no to phone

This is in response to Just Say No. It is a shame that people like you are so ignorant and can't see that we went from one bad phone monopoly to a worse monopoly. You don't have a choice. You either use Ameritech or you don't have a phone. Why should I have to go without a phone because the one and only phone company sucks? You, my friend, should open your eyes to what is going on around you and stop running your mouth and judging people and things that you know nothing about. Before I go, I would like to add something. I didn't bust up the phone company and if I were up to me we would have more than one.

Power of the vote

I am tired of reading about how much the Fox Lake officials suck. Stop complaining and vote them out. Teach them to stop complaining about something the people of Fox Lake did to themselves.

CB abuse

I am tired of citizen band radio. Every night I go on there. I have been monitoring channel 21 or 35 and I hear these two little bables, Sniper and Revolver. I think that everyone should just chill out and tell Sniper and Revolver to shut up. I am really sick of them whining, yelling, and moaning. Revolver instigates all of it, and Sniper just has to keep it going on and on. Sniper, if you are reading this, just stop it. Baby Revolver, stop instigating it. Baby Sniper, just drop it.

Take action

I would like to tell the people of the Northwest suburbs who are getting airplane noise, that it is only going to get worse if they don't do anything about it and no one else is going to do it for them.

Misconceptions

I live in Grayslake, and I just read your article about the Police Department dispatching services. There are some misconceptions about what is going on over there. You reported inaccurately what was tabled at the Village Board meeting. They did not make a new position for a full time dispatcher. They just took a part-timer who had been working full-time hours. They still have not voted on that. So they did not increase any manpower. It has also come to my attention that some of the dispatchers quit and even if they did replace them, it would still be inadequate. I am appalled that you would report something inaccurately and I am appalled that the village continues to do these types of things.

Call to action

I live in Lake Villa and I have been bothered about the airplane noise. I have been trying to get help from the police department and wrote to Phil Crane. There is a number that you can call and if you do not complain, then it will get worse. I appreciate people trying to make this problem go away. I cannot do it on my own. The number for O'Hare for the noise abatement is (312) 686-2377. And from there if you can't get any help, you can write to your congressman.

History assistance sought

I was wondering if anyone can help me locate some info on the Round Lake Creamery. We do know that Round Lake had a dairy called Forestglen, but there is nothing on the Round Lake Creamery.

Baiting caller

In response to the original comments to ogling women. I would like to apologize. If the woman had said that there were obscene gestures being made, I would have advised her that it was a matter for the police. However, in rebuttal I would like to say that my brain and skull thickness are about normal. I do realize that she is a rather uptight individual and I was just trying to bait her.

MS fund-raiser a moving experience

They used to call it the MS Bike 'n Hike, but volunteers for the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter National Multiple Sclerosis Society chose a new name this year for the 22nd annual event. "Whatever Moves You" for MS is the umbrella title for the pledge-based fund-raiser on Sunday, Oct. 8, with routes planned on Chicago's lakefront and in eight suburban communities.

Event planners wanted to make it clear that you don't have to bike and hike—it's not a biathlon—but have the choice of any form of locomotion of preference that may be acceptable on the route. This may be cycling, walking, running, rollerblading or for some people with MS, by wheelchair.

Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to enroll in the event, which has a goal of $145,000 for the benefit of MS research and client services offered to 10,000 people with MS in 73 Illinois counties.

Mark Suppelsa, anchorman at Channel 5, is honorary chairperson of the event and will emcee opening ceremonies at the lakefront route. Participants at all routes may check in between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m., with the official start at 9 a.m. Snacks and beverages will be provided at rest stops along the way.

The routes, varying in length from 8 to 34 miles, include one in Lake County at Half Day Forest Preserve, Milwaukee Ave. and Ill. Hwy. 22, 13 miles.

Participants pay no registration fee, but are asked to seek funds for MS from sponsors. They also can qualify for fund-raising prizes ranging from a "Whatever Moves You for MS" T-shirt at $30 to the grand prize of a three-night trip for two to London, courtesy of the Four Seasons Regent in London and American Airlines.

Lending special support to the event as sponsors are Household Finance Corp., Hinckley & Schmitt, Spiegel, The Sports Authority, American Airlines and Del Monte.

Registration forms are available by calling the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter, NMSS, at (312)922-8000 or 1-800-922-0484.

Frederick donates to LaCASA building fund

Virginia Frederick, who retired earlier this year after 16 years of serving as Republican State Rep. for Illinois, has announced the donation of part of her residual campaign fund ($1,100) to the Capital Campaign for the construction of a new permanent headquarters, counseling and education facility for LaCASA—the Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault.

"I'm proud to support such a worthwhile organization, and hope this inspires other legislators, past and present, to get involved however and whenever they can in supporting vital causes like LaCASA," said Frederick, past assistant minority leader of the Illinois House of Representatives. "LaCASA programs and personnel are a true lifeline for many sexual assault survivors who, without their help, would find it very hard to function and get on with their lives."

While in office, Frederick was an active proponent of victims' rights. She served for three years on the Rape Study Commission, and sponsored the passage of the Violent Crime Victims Assistance Act structured to compensate victims of violent action.

In addition to her donation, Frederick has pledged her ongoing support as an honorary chairperson for LaCASA's Capital Campaign to raise the remainder of the funds needed. To date, LaCASA has raised approximately one-third of the $950,000 needed to complete the facility, to be located on Old Grand Ave. between Grand and Rte. 132 in Gurnee.

The Wealshire opens

Developer Amle Goldberg (left), Lincolnshire Mayor Barbara LaPlanna and Dr. Barry Kaufman cut the traditional red ribbon to mark the official opening of The Wealshire. More than 300 guests attended the open house ceremonies. The Wealshire is the Midwest's first free-standing facility exclusively designed for long term care of residents with Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementia (ADRD). The Lincolnshire facility provides a residential, non-institutional environment for its residents.

Seminar helps with moving stress

Pulling up roots and moving is never easy. And, since Lake County is one of the fastest growing areas in the country, more and more people are experiencing the aches and pains of packing and unpacking, more families are trying to adjust to their new lives, and more children are being labeled "the new kid on the block" than in most other regions of the nation.

"New Places, New Faces...Dealing with Relocation Stress," Condell's Community Health Education Series, will deal with many of the issues associated with the stresses and strains of relocation in free evening presentations at Gurnee Mills' Show Court beginning Monday, Aug. 28 at 7 p.m. for four consecutive nights. The series is being co-sponsored by Condell Medical Center. The College of Lake County and Gurnee Mills.

On Monday, Aug. 28, from 7 to 8 p.m., "Moving After Moving?" Physical therapist Gail Crutcher blends humor and advice to take the pain out of moving. Director of Rehabilitation Services at Condell Medical Center, he can help you avoid the aches and pains that come with moving through pain-relieving techniques, suggestions for manual treatment and exercise.

On Tuesday, Aug. 29, from 7 to 8 p.m., "Getting to Know Your New Home Town," a panel discussion. Speakers will be: "Shopping Nutritionally," Lisa Zoberman, Condell Medical Center Health Institute; "Continuing Your Education Close to Home," Julie Shroka, College of Lake County; "Retail Resources," Brenda Kinney, marketing director Gurnee Mills.

On Wednesday, Aug. 30, from 7 to 8 p.m., "Families in Flux: Separation and Connection," saying goodbye to old friends and hello to new ones is a stressful business for the whole family. Frances Pacheco, Psy.D., Condell Medical Center, has some excellent suggestion for easing the transition of relocating.

On Thursday, Aug. 31, from 7 to 8 p.m., "Creating Family Vision and Values," the family is the world's oldest organization. Russ Rogers, Ph.D., organizational consultant, and director of the Graduate Department of DePaul University's School of New Learning, will demonstrate how the principles of organizational development can help clarify family values and inspire family members to work together.

The series is free and no reservations are required. However, for additional information, call Condell Medical Center, Public Relations Department at 362-2905, Extension 5275, or Gurnee Mills at 263-7500, Extension 2418.

Alzheimer's support group formed at LFH

Alzheimer's disease can be a frustrating experience for not only those who are affected by the disorder but also for the caregiver who must provide help with day-to-day functions. To help ease these frustrations, Lake Forest Hospital offers a support group for people who give care to family members suffering from Alzheimer's disease and other related disorders.

The group will meet from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month in the library of Westmoreland Nursing Center, which is located on the hospital campus. Staff from the hospital's Adult Daycare Program will provide free care during the meeting for family members who require supervision.

The group provides emotional support, social interaction and educational opportunities to caregivers who are often isolated due to the difficulty of obtaining respite care for their family members. Professional staff members of Lake Forest Hospital will lead discussions about dealing with difficult behaviors, daycare options, legal issues, safety, medications and research advances.

Caregivers throughout Lake County are welcome to attend. Funds for this program have been provided through a grant by the Buchanan Family Fund of Lake Forest/Lake Bluff United Way and there is no charge for participation. For further information, call Sandy Summers, activities director at Westmoreland at 234-5600, extension 5982.

Relay for Life a success

Over 200 people participated in the American Cancer Society's first Relay for Life at Carmel High School in Mundelein. Relay teams of eight to twelve people from families, organizations and companies walked and ran around the track from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Over $40,000 was raised to provide services to cancer patients and their families, to offer more educational programs that will reduce people's risk of getting cancer and to expand cancer research programs.

Carroll Stovold of Lake Bluff, co-chairman, welcomed everyone, and Brent Stahlheber of Lindenhurst, co-chairman, shared his story of cancer survival. Tammy Burke did aerobic warm-up exercises, and Elder Ron Lindstaldt from Abundant Life Christian Church of Mundelein gave the invocation. Wearing green ribbons, all cancer survivors then walked the first lap around the track.

Entertainment was provided by City Lights of Mundelein, Libertyville's Swingin' Easy, and Earl Keating of Fox Lake. Rioch Mosher from Waukegan was the DJ for the day.

Hourly raffles were held for participants, with prizes from local merchants. A grand raffle drawing was also held in the evening.

The culmination of the event was the lighting of luminaries purchased in honor of and in memory of cancer patients. Leading the special inspirational ceremony was Carol Stovold.

Hospital offers disorder program

"The Hidden Disease," a free, community education program focusing on obsessive-compulsive disorder (OCD) will be presented from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 13 at Forest Hospital, 555 Wilson Ln., Des Plaines.

Sponsored by Forest Health Systems, the program will feature Apollo Solecki, M.D., director of Forest's panic and anxiety program, and psychologist Robert Feldman, Ph.D. An OCD patient also will take part in the discussion to provide a personal perspective on the disorder.

Affecting an estimated 2 percent of the population, OCD usually begins in the teen years. Typically, a person who suffers from OCD develops a pattern of persistent or exaggerated thoughts (obsessions—such as fear that a loved one will be harmed) and behaviors (compulsions—such as repeatedly arranging objects in an effort to keep them precisely aligned) that may not make sense but are difficult to overcome.

According to Dr. Solecki, the pattern of obsessions and/or compulsions can destroy a person's ability to function. However, most individuals with OCD can be effectively treated with medication, behavioral therapy or a combination of the two.

To register for this free program, call 635-4100, ext. 224.

August is National Eye Exam Month

The National Society to Prevent Blindness designated the month of August as Eye Exam Month in an effort to promote good eye care and a greater understanding of visual problems.

Millions of Americans receive high levels of professional care from ophthalmologists. Ophthalmologists perform a variety of functions that help restore vision and prevent blindness.

Dr. Daniel Ritacca and Dr. Bob Levy of Ritacca Vision Center have been practicing medicine for more than 20 years, providing quality eye care to all of their patients. Dr. Ritacca and Dr. Levy are Fellowship trained and are specialists in both cataract and refractive surgery. Dr. Levy has performed over 12,000 no-stitch cataract surgeries.

Since school will be back in session soon, Dr. Ritacca and his staff will be performing routine eye examinations for school children in the Chicago area and free glaucoma/cataract evaluations for new patients.

Justin Williams, 12, Rock Island, shares a quiet moment with Glencoe Fire Department's fire dog "Molly" during visitor's day at Camp Duncan.

Burn Camp tears down barriers for young victims

JENNIFER WHISENAND
Staff Reporter

Each year more than 5.2 million people experience burn injuries, including innocent children.

Fires alone kill more than 5,000 Americans per year.

Fires and burns are the second leading cause of accidental death for children one to four years of age, and the third leading cause of death for those under the age of 19.

These facts have been provided by the Illinois Fire Safety Alliance, who has been sponsoring a camp for burned children for the past five years.

This year 87 children from Illinois, many from the Chicago area, came to the YMCA Camp Duncan in Ingleside to attend Burn Camp.

These 8 to 16-year-old children have experienced a burn injury that has required some hospitalization and many will be scarred for life.

"Even with all the scars the children still act like any other kid," said Camp Counselor and Buffalo Grove Firefighter Steve Dorsey.

This is Dorsey's first year at Burn Camp.

"I wanted to experience working with kids that have had to experience a burn injury," Dorsey said. "I am a counselor for seven kids ages 10 and 11, who have been burned in many different ways," he added.

From house fires to camp fires to scalding all the children have one thing in common, they all have been in the hospital for treatment for their burns.

Dorsey said the kids came to camp on the first day and were a little shy about showing their scars, but by the third day the kids had swimming suits on and were showing off their scars.

From first year Burn Camp kids to the veteran five-year kids, all enjoy the seven-day camp, where they can be themselves and not worry about anyone staring at them.

Ten-year-old Aaron, from Elburn, Ill., was burnt over 45 percent of his body when a can of gasoline blew up while he was sitting around a camp fire.

The incident occurred within the last year and Aaron stated that it has been a hard year.

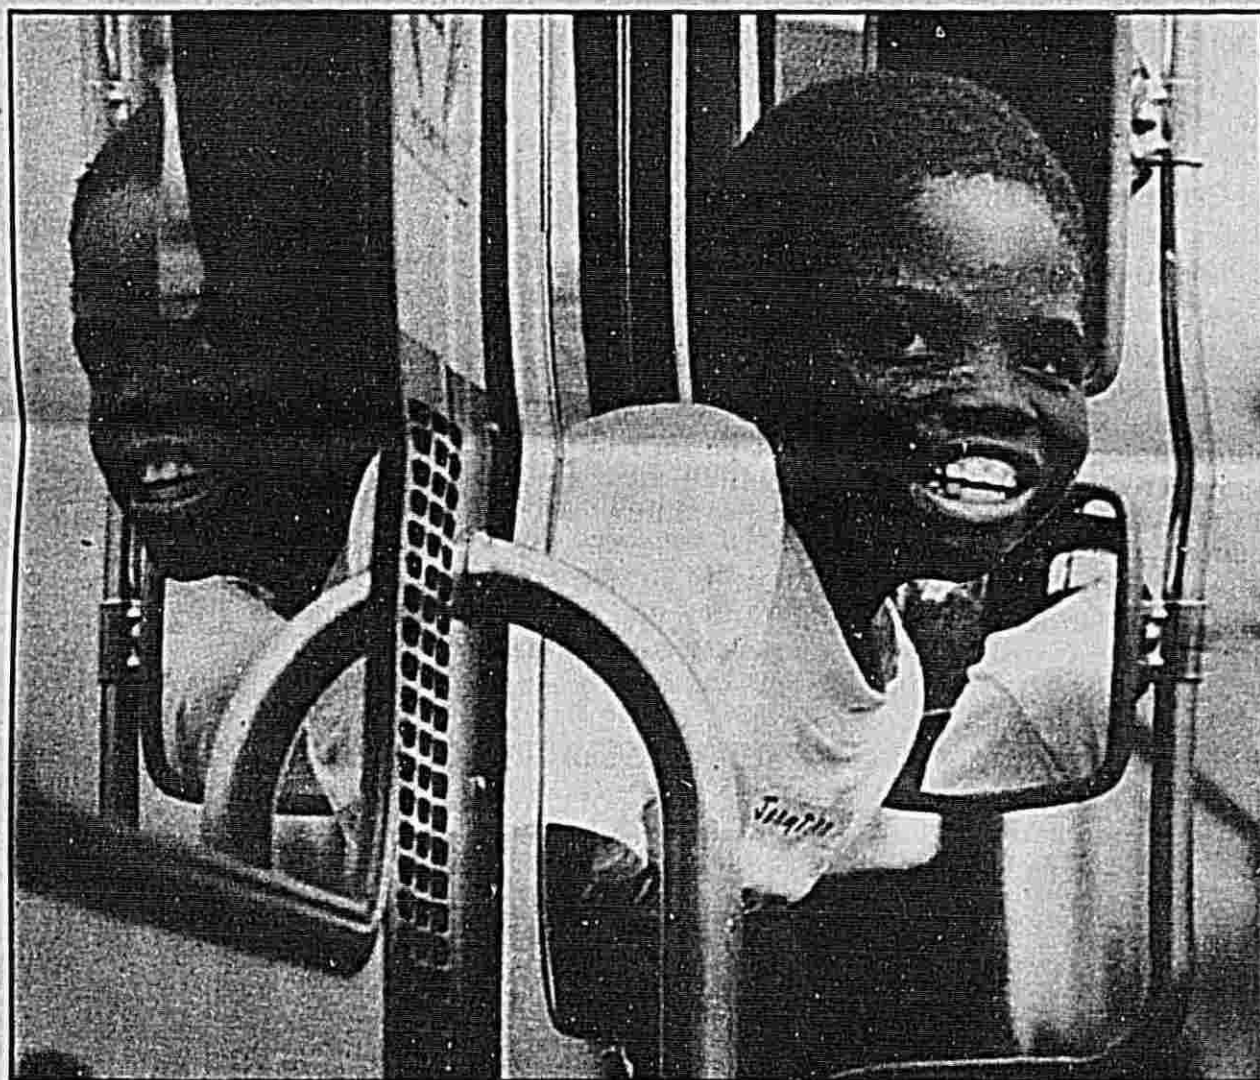

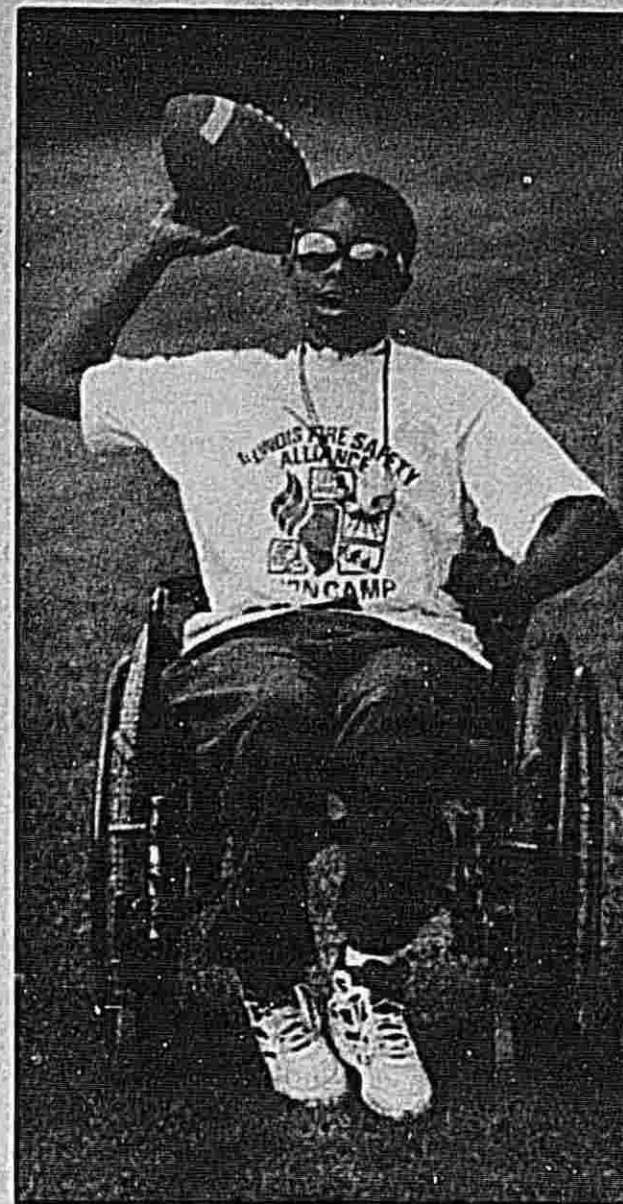

"When I heard about Burn Camp, and all it offered I was really excited about coming," Aaron said. "I really wanted to come to have fun and to meet some new friends that have something in common with me," he added.

One of Aaron's cabin mates, Derrick, 11 from Chicago, has attended Burn Camp two years, but was burnt by a heater when he was 2 years old.

"What I enjoy most is swimming," Derrick said.

When he was asked why swimming was his favorite thing to do at camp, Derrick replied that where he lives in Chicago the pool is full of things floating. See CAMP page B15

The Disney Institute The Ultimate Disney Experience

by JIM WARREN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

It may not be for everyone, but if you're one of the thousands of "Disney-lacs" have we got a vacation for you!

After years of planning, Disney has come up with a completely new concept in vacation resorts for those who want more than just an ordinary Disney World vacation.

Opening in February 1996 at Walt Disney World Resort in Florida, the totally new Disney Institute will offer visitors an authentic, hands-on, Disney experience.

Here's the setting.

Imagine a quaint village green with an outdoor amphitheater, cinema, performance center, sports and fitness center, spa and user-friendly audio-visual studio workshop, tucked away in a tranquil lakeside enclave, all at the edge of an 18-hole championship golf course.

Now let's look at a typical day.

After breakfast, you stop by the cinema to watch a Disney "film-in-progress". You engage in a conversation with the director who explains character development in the film.

Your daughter is busy "creating" in the Animation Workshop while your son is off scaling the heights of the Rockwall at the fitness center.

Your spouse is off having their golf swing video-taped and analyzed by the golf pro, the results of which will be seen later that afternoon out on the course.

After lunch, you stroll over to the culinary studios for your Food Wonders of the World session where a master chef helps you learn to prepare a French specialty called Mirepoix.

Later, it's time to relax with a Swedish massage at the spa where any stress you may have brought from home soon melts away.

After dinner, you head to the performance center for a musical stage show where you, as one of the dozen "artists-in-residence", are a character in the story.

One thing I found appealing, is you plan your own day. Disney has provided something for everyone. Singles, couples and families will all find much to interest them, but each visitor can do their own thing.

The Disney Institute is also designed so each guest gets individual attention, thus the number of visitors is very limited. The message here is "book early."

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Back to school: It's time to be cool

Hey, boys and girls, do you know what time it is? It's Back-to-School time.

And what does this mean? Well, besides the usual school shopping (which, by the way, you might want to live up by asking your mom for No. 3 pencils instead of No. 2, just to see if anyone really notices), something else happens when school starts. It may have already happened to you. It is a condition known as "cool."

It's true. I know because I, too, was once cool. All right, I know that several of you children out there are doubled over in laughter at this point (especially those children who live in my home), holding your stomachs and falling on the floor while simultaneously rolling your eyes toward the ceiling (be careful—they will stay that way) and snorting loudly. I can hear it now—"How would you know anything about being 'cool'?" you're blurting between snorts. "Oh yeah, we forgot—you were born in the Ice Age! Ha, ha, ha, ha," (snort).

Actually, what you kids don't seem to realize is you're wrong. I AM cool. It's MY parents who are dorks.

I remember exactly when I made that discovery. I had asked for my very first record album for Christmas, a "Beatles" album (this should be your first clue that I am cool, since I was around when the Beatles sang on Ed Sullivan, and we all know how cool the Beatles were). However, my parents brought home instead, to my horror, an album entitled, "The Grasshoppers Sing the Beatles." They couldn't even get their bugs right.

From that point on, it was sad to watch. Eventually, they became Englebert Humperdinck fans and walked around the house mumbling, "Now this is REAL music." I would have had them committed right then but I didn't have the heart.

So, boys and girls, as an experienced "cool chick" and in order to continue my record here in this column for providing useless advice you will never need or want, here is a basic primer of five "cool" behaviors for kids aged 5 through 7 to help you get started in school on the right foot:

1. Raise your hand when you have to go to the bathroom. No more shoving your hand between your legs and yelling, "I'm gonna pee! I'm gonna pee!"

2. No Barney lunch boxes.
3. Nose picking must be discreet.

4. Girls—do not kiss boys. They have cooties.

5. Boys—do not kiss girls. They, too, have cooties.

If you follow these guidelines, boys and girls, I can't guarantee you'll be as cool as me, but at least you won't end up like my parents. Hey—stop that snorting!

(*Speaking of bugs: To the reader who called me because he was worried about the "Giant Spider Loose on the Chain," you can relax—it was not really the size of a wiener dog. Maybe a Chihuahua.)

Camp

in it and he does not swim there.

The camp offers many activities for the children including an indoor pool, a lake, canoeing, kayaking, hay rides, craft making and many other activities throughout the week.

Other special activities for the campers are to put together a Memory Book, which is a collection of memorabilia from the 1995 Burn Camp that will be arranged in a scrapbook form. Each cabin gets to contribute to the Memory Book and the book is put together for the campers.

Campers also get to use cameras and journals to write autobiographies about their lives before they were burned and how their lives have changed from that time as part of their special projects.

Some of the kids scars are not as apparent, being hidden under their clothes.

Ten-year-old Mark from East Dundee, Ill., was burnt four years ago by hot boiling water that hit his side. Mark shows off his scars when asked about them.

"I made my fourth grade teacher faint when I showed her my scar," Mark said.

Ten-year-old, Mattoon, Ill., resident, T.J., was burnt when a pot of hot roast beef gravy fell upon him at the age of six months.

T.J. has been attending Burn Camp for four years and enjoys coming to meet new friends and to swim in the lake and pool.

The Office of the Illinois State Fire Marshal reported that in 1994 there were 106 fire deaths of children between the ages of 0 and 19. The six Illinois burn units report that there were 382 children under the age of 17 who were hospitalized for serious burn injuries in 1994.

The cost to send one child to Burn Camp is $650. The Illinois Fire Safety Alliance, which sponsors Burn Camp, is a non-profit coalition of organizations and individuals dedicated to fire and burn prevention through public education.

More than 500 different agencies and individuals have made contributions to the Alliance to help sponsor Burn Camp.

Good Food Abundant tomato crops

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

My vegetable garden this year has been somewhat of a disappointment. On the positive side my green beans and herbs and cherry tomatoes have been plentiful. But, my squash and cucumbers are slow growing. I've already had red slicing and plum tomatoes, but the plants look weak and it doesn't look like there will be much more of a crop. However, some of you have probably been more diligent gardeners than I have this summer and are enjoying the fruits of your labor. For those with abundant tomato crops, try drying them. Following is a recipe from the Cook's Garden seed catalog

Oven Dried Tomatoes

4 pints plum tomatoes

1 tablespoon sea salt

2 cups fresh basil leaves

1 cup olive oil

2 jars pint sized canning jars with lids and seals

Slice tomatoes in half lengthwise. Scoop out seeds. Place in a single layer on cookie sheets flat side up. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Set in a warm (150 degree) oven. When tomatoes are fully dry, pack in pint jars, alternating with layers of basil. Cover completely with olive oil, place lid on jars. Store in refrigerator. To use, add them whole or sliced to pizza topping, tomato sauce or garnish tomato based soups.

The tomatoes take about 12 to 24 hours to dry. Stored in refrigerator, they will keep several months.

'Clouds' fluffy plot works for romantics

Keanu Reeves, Aitana Sanchez

If you're too "Today" to appreciate the marvelously romantic films of yesterday such as "Casablanca," "It Happened One Night," and "An Affair to Remember," then don't go to see "A Walk in the Clouds."

Director Alfonso Aru, who brought us "Like Water For Chocolate," delivers the film's real star as he photographs the lush wine country of California's Napa Valley through a magic lens that frosts each scene with a mystic glow.

Fitting right in with the locale's mysticism are the two stars, Keanu Reeves and Aitana Sanchez Gijon, both beautiful to look at and haltingly innocent.

The plot is as fluffy as the clouds our lovers walk in, but for romantic dreamers it will suffice since no real romance is cluttered with a plot but drowned in love.

Reeves is a WWII soldier who comes home to find the girl he married in the hysteria of war is a stranger.

He reluctantly goes back to his prewar job of selling chocolate when he meets Gijon on a train. And of course, those of us who are romance connoisseurs know by the way they look at each other that this is a bonafide case of love at first sight.

Reeves later discovers that this lovely creature is afraid to return to the vineyard that belongs to her family because she is pregnant and unmarried. The explosion of fall colors in which Reeves finds Victoria sitting on her suitcase and crying is gorgeous and the scene as sentimental as a lacey valentine.

Reeves tells her he will go home with her, pretending to be her husband, stay for a day and then leave, thus becoming the villain who deserts a pregnant wife, turning her father's wrath on himself and away from Victoria.

Even though both are coaxed into a fragrant wedding bed by her family, of course Reeves, who is already tingling at her touch, does the honorable thing and tells her he wants her but he is not free and he must leave in the morning.

This is followed by confrontations with daddy, played by Giancarlo Giannini, who dislikes him from the start because he is a "gringo."

You get the feeling that though Reeves wants to be honorable and leave, he subconsciously welcomes being stopped continually by Don Pedro, Victoria's wine-loving grandfather played impishly by Anthony Quinn.

The ceremony of the crushing of the grapes could have been a glorious musical finale. This is only topped by the glittering erotic fairytale of an "Angel dance" done by the entire cast to save the grapes from the frost.

Because this is a "feel good movie," great for the family and wonderful on a date, we give "Clouds" four out of five stars. The film is rated PG-13. Reeves establishes himself as a star in this film and not just a "Speed" in the pan.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Celebrate Oktoberfest at the Boardwalk

Make your plans now to celebrate Oktoberfest at the Boardwalk Pub, a casual restaurant and lounge located at 40581 Bluff Lake Rd. in Antioch (in Old Port Cove Marina). The annual Oktoberfest will be celebrated in true German tradition, Oct. 6-7 with a German Band, German buffet dinner and of course, German beer. Among the buffet items will be: roast pork, bratwurst, kraut, homemade potato pancakes and rolandenn, rolled stuffed steak.

But you don't have to wait until October to visit—The Boardwalk Pub is open for lunch and dinner Wednesday through Sunday during their "in season" (approximately May to mid-November), and on weekends only during the "off season."

Patrons at the Boardwalk, which seats approximately 75, rave about the Friday "Ethnic Buffet" which features either German, Italian, All-American, or Mexican cuisine for only $7.95. The all-you-can-eat Fish Fry is another popular choice at only $6.95. Crab Legs (price varies) and Fried Shrimp ($12.95) dinners include soup and salad bar. The crab and shrimp dinners are popular enough to be added onto the regular Saturday menu, which includes delicious entrees like fillets, ribs, hamburgers, chicken, and a Mexican section of the menu. For those watching their waists, Boardwalk Pub also has a "lite" menu. Children have their own menu, too, with an average meal costing around $2.50.

The atmosphere at Boardwalk Pub is lighthearted and fun. Live entertainment of '50s and '60s bands is featured on the weekends, and there's also a pool table, darts, table games, and a juke box to keep you entertained. The live band "Sister Swing" features the best hits of girl groups from the Andrews Sisters to the Pointer Sisters and spans the decades from the '40s-'90s. They take the stage Aug. 26 from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Boardwalk Pub is available for on and off premise catering for 50 to 1,000 people. Having an office party, birthday party, or special occasion? Call Barb or Marlene at 395-8335 for further information.

Critic's Choice

'Lost in Yonkers' set for Candlelight Theatre

Neil Simon does not paint the typical family portrait in "Lost in Yonkers," and that's what's so compelling in this delightful comedy/drama set in 1942.

It features an aging matriarch who is wound tightly as a spring and her maladjusted siblings: A hard-nosed low-level shyster, a daughter who can't spit out a sentence in her presence without wheezing and another daughter who can't spit out a sentence in her presence without wheezing and another daughter who lives in constant fear.

The only level-headed one, a son played by Roger Mueller in Candlelight's Forum Theatre production, has just enough gumption to approach her about leaving his two boys with her while he heads south to scrape together the cash needed to extricate himself from the clutches of a loan shark.

Marji Bank, as the indomitable Grandma Kurnitz, knows how to inspire fear simply by snapping her cane against a sofa. David Kovac, though looking a bit mature for the part of a 16-year-old, and Devin Leonardi, are the catalysts that finally bring some light into the darkness at this New York apartment.

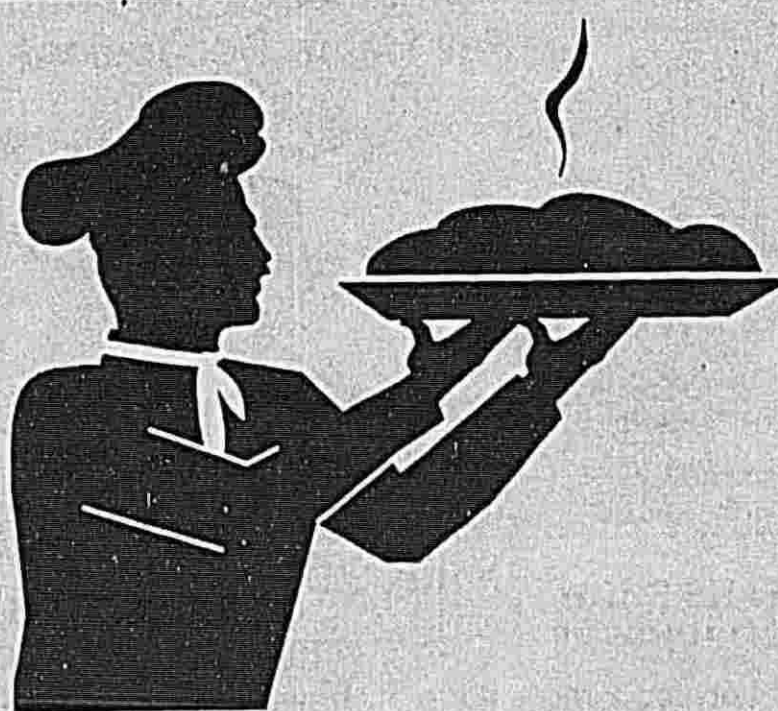

Paula Scrofano is perfect as the sometimes-batty Bella, and Cliff Morts has the moxie required for his role of Louie the bagman.

"Lost in Yonkers," thoughtfully directed by Larry Wyatt, will run through Sept. 10. Ticket information is available at 496-3000.—by TOM WITOM

Try something a little different when planting in shady areas

Time and time again we get asked, "What perennials can I plant in the shade?" For now, I'd like to talk about some perennials besides the hostas, ferns and astilbes that will grow well in the shade. This isn't a knock against these plants; however here's a partial list of some others.

The Dicentra spectabilis, common bleeding heart, grows 1- to 2-feet high. The flowers are 1 1/2-inches long. In a one-sided raceme 9 inches long with a rose color or red color. This plant needs moist, well drained soils, as do most shade plants.

The Epimedium, called barrenwort, are great rock garden plants and are good as a ground cover.

The grandiflorum and Xrubrum are generally used. The grandiflorum has stems 12 inches high. Flowers are 1- to 2-feet across, pink with white-tipped spurs.

The Xrubrum is a bright pink to crimson, with white spurs. With a bit of protection, sometimes the foliage may keep green over the winter.

The Helleborus orientalis, Lenten Rose, is the easiest species of the genus to grow. It can attain a height of 18 inches with a cluster of two to six flowers, 2 inches wide. The color can vary from cream to purplish-pink, which fades to a brown color on a branched, leafless stem.

The Ajuga reptans "Burgundy Glow" is extremely versatile as it will grow in full sun to deep shade. The foliage is the showy part of this plant, showing green, white and dark pink to purple.

There is the Asarum canadense, wild ginger, or for a shinier leaf, the European wild ginger. The canadense is a bit harder than the Europaeum. It attains a 6- to 8-inch height, leaves are 3- to 6-feet wide. Flowers are one-inch wide, bell-shaped, purplish green on the outside and deep maroon inside. This is a great companion plant with Hostas, ferns and astilbes.

Some others are: Disporum flavum, fairy bells. Blooms in spring and is a good choice for dry, shady areas. Attains a height of 2 to 3 feet; leaves are shiny, leathery. It has a yellow, one-inch long flower.

Actaea rubra, red baneberry; Pulmonaria angustifolia, blue lungwort; or Pulmonaria saccharata, Bethlehem sage are beautiful shade perennials. With further investigation, we've found over 30 plus genus of perennials to grow in the shade, and with these species the list goes on.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect/owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth

Fun-filled day planned during 'Senior's Day Out' Sept. 6

"Senior's Day Out" on Sept. 6 will treat seniors to a luncheon and theatrical performance featuring songs, dances, and skits by the Winnebago County RSVP Entertainers and the Coming of Age Theater Troupe. The show will combine entertainment with practical information about how seniors can cope with younger generations and how they can identify, avoid, and deal with many kinds of scams and consumer fraud. Many of the entertainers have performed professionally with such stars as Louis Armstrong and Lawrence Welk.

"Seniors' Day Out," sponsored by the Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging, will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 6. The show will be held in the auditorium of Fenton High School, 1000 W. Green St., in Bensenville, and the luncheon will be immediately afterward, at noon at the Cascades Banquet Hall, 800 W. Irving Park Rd., Bensenville.

The luncheon will feature a choice of baked chicken or roast sirloin, with potatoes, tossed salad, vegetable medley, and strawberry sundae.

Bus transportation to Fenton High School, from the school to the banquet hall, and back to the pickup sites will be available. In Lake County, the bus will pick up passengers in Barrington, Fox Lake, Gurnee, Libertyville, North Chicago, Round Lake, and Waukegan, and return them to those locations. Reservations are required, and the confirmation will list the exact site and time for bus transportation.

The total cost of the theatrical performance and luncheon is $13, and the cost of the bus transportation is $9. Some scholarships are available. Seniors may call the Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging, toll-free, (800)528-2000.

Advertisers reach entire world in cyberspace

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Jim Warnken, owner of Northstar Travel in Lindenhurst, has a plan most people would like to enact. In the not too distant future, he sees himself sitting on a beach somewhere armed with a laptop computer and cellular phone, selling cruises.

"If I can sell all my tours over the Internet, by using my 800 number and e-mail, I won't need an office anymore," Warnken said.

With the new world order comes a global economy, global business and global communications. Unfortunately, to reach this global market with advertising took a global budget—until now.

Subscribers see the Internet as an opportunity to access electronic information from around the world. Advertisers see the Internet as an opportunity to sell their wares to the rest of the world. The Internet has local access stations, called hubs, which can link subscribers to the rest of the world for the price of a local phone call.

Bill Grams, owner of the Volo Antique Auto Museum and Antique Mall, sees the Internet as a whole new approach to reaching his customer base, which already comes from around the world. Not everyone can buy a classic Rolls Royce, a Pierce Arrow or a Phantom. Grams just sold the quintessential American car, a 1957 Chevrolet convertible in mint condition, for $45,000. The price tag indicates a discriminating buyer with a not-so-discriminating pocketbook.

Prior to the advent of the Internet, Grams could not conceive of reaching his world wide customer base with cost-effectiveness. He is now working on a home page that allows access not only to details about his automobiles but serves potential customers to the antique mall as well.

A home page is similar to a newspaper advertisement, with one exception. The home page is interactive. Users can click on icons on the page and access other related information. Warnken's secret to developing his home page is to make it easy to use as well as comprehensive.

Coveted ribs under Chicago area television spot light

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

For 35 years now, Fox Lake residents and tourists have delighted in a secret sauce marinated, then grilled into the most tender baby backs ribs imaginable. Now, the rest of Chicagoland will be let in on the taste, but not the secret.

TJ's Chicken and Ribs will be catering their special brand of ribs and all the fix-in's to the Channel 32's Fox Thing in the Morning Sept. 1 as part of a regular Friday morning feature. At the end of the show, hosts Bob Sirott, Marianne Marciano, the crew and probably anyone else who can sneak into the studio delight in the sumptuous feast at the end of the show.

With all the eateries in the Chicago area, the honor of catering the show can probably be considered an exclusive club. Co-owner, Dan Peil said restaurants have to be referred to the show and he has no idea exactly who picked his store.

"We do a lot of catering to office complexes downtown," Peil said, adding that many Lake County residents work downtown.

TJ's actually came into existence five years ago, with Peil buying the secret rib and salad recipes from the business at the same location across from Grant High School on Grand Ave. The cole slaw recipe has been sold to some of the exclusive restaurants in Chicago. But to taste the ribs, one must venture to Fox Lake or the new location in Grayslake.

"We figure every five years we will open a new store in Lake County. Our next venture will be in Vernon Hills or Mundelein," Peil said.

The Grayslake location, open just a few months, is already selling a high volume of ribs. The store has also added a new feature due to customer demand. Customers can now get nine flavors of soft serve ice cream along with all the toppings for decadent sundae or banana split. The addition has been well-received.

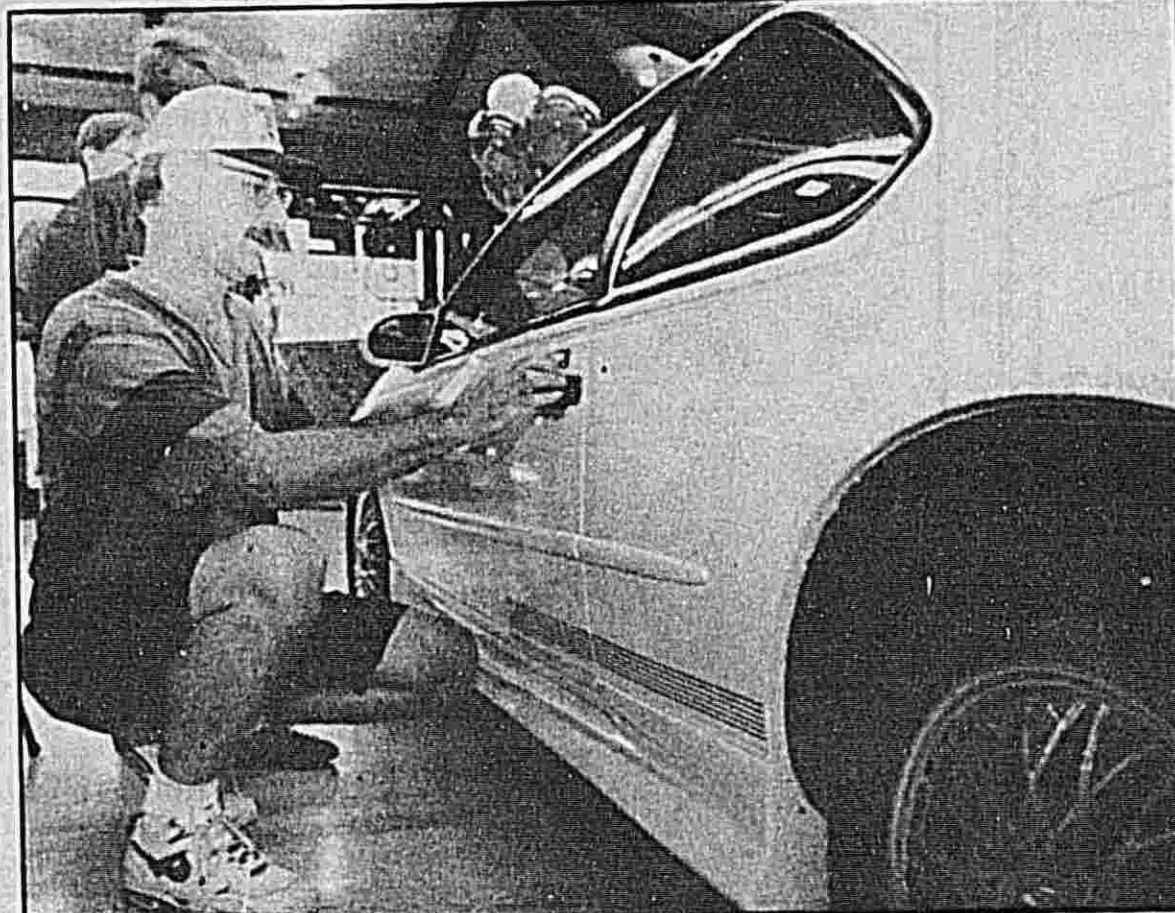

"We're outselling Fox Lake four to one in ice cream and they've been there a lot longer," Peil said.

Peil, who was born and raised in Grayslake, says the village meets the demographic requirements of his product line, and so does his customer base in Fox Lake. He said he stresses quality in his menu, not just the lowest price anything he can throw on a plate.

Ninety percent of our Fox Lake customers are not local. We have the upper middle class customer who will pay for good food. Our Fox Lake Store does better in the winter and our Grayslake store will do better in the winter," Peil said.

Landmark Homes wins big

Landmark Homes won three of the top awards during the 1995 Lake County Tour of Homes. "The Princeton," which is located in Landmark's award-winning Beacon Hill community in Kildeer, won Best Interior Merchandising in the $450,001-$500,000 category. "The Emily," located in Landmark's Providence Oaks community in Gurnee, also was awarded Best Interior Merchandising, this time in the $300,000-$350,000 category, as well as Best Master Suite.

"A creative staff that is committed to excellence was the reason we won these awards," says Michael Doran, president of Landmark Homes. "Our entire team deserves congratulations for making The Princeton and The Emily spectacular residences."

The Princeton combines luxury living with all the comfort expected in a family-style home. The Emily is a New England-style residence that is crafted especially for an active family lifestyle.

With tree-lined streets and landscaped cul-de-sacs, Beacon Hill has 92 custom homes. A distinctly Landmark Homes community, it is located on Illinois Hwy. 22, one half-mile east of Quentin Road, minutes away from shopping in both Long Grove and Lake Zurich.

Providence Oaks, Landmark Homes' newest neighborhood, has 98 single-family residences. Located on 37 wooded acres, Providence Oaks is situated on the east side of O'Plaine Road, one-quarter mile north of Rte. 120. For more information call Therese Schaefer, sales manager, at 438-9220.

LAKE ZURICH—Colliers, Bennett & Kahnweiler Inc. announces that Loyalty Environmental, a Skokie-based real estate investment firm, has purchased 80 Genesee St., a 60,000 square-foot manufacturing building, from Comerica for an undisclosed amount. Formerly occupied by Park Rubber Co., the 50-year-old facility features parking for more than 64 vehicles, one interior and one exterior truck dock and two drive-in doors. Purchased as an investment, Loyalty Environmental plans on implementing a substantial renovation program to bring the facility to current standards.

Slamming battle continues

SPRINGFIELD—Attorney General Jim Ryan continued his vigorous legal battle against the emerging consumer scam known as "slamming" as he sued four different companies for allegedly using deceit and trickery to switch the long-distance phone service of Illinois citizens. Ryan began his assault on this form of telecommunications fraud in February when he became one of the first Attorneys General in the country to file suit against Sonic Communications Inc., Roswell, Ga. That action evolved into one of the widest consumer fraud cases in Illinois history and Ryan's attorneys continue to seek consumer restitution from the company.

for them to link directly with the Hawaii Visitors Bureau," said Warnken, who has some computer programming in his background.

Even though Warnken's background caters to understanding computers, that is not a prerequisite to advertising on the Internet or even to developing a home page. Central Lake County's local provider for the Internet, Lakeland netDirect in Grayslake, has services in house to help advertisers construct an Internet advertisement.

According to Lakeland netDirect manager Corky Gross, advertising on the Internet can be equated to a billboard. There is an up front cost for building a page, then it is on the Internet forever by paying a small monthly fee. The difference is the advertiser is reaching the entire world and customers who read the properly constructed home pages don't feel like they are being sold.

"They're not being sold. It's like they are walking into a store and shopping around. It's a place where people want to shop," Gross said.

To listen to Gross, it is not a fantasy to think more people will be running their businesses from somewhere other than a physical office. The Internet is becoming less of a novelty everyday, even to the stalwarts who will be dragged kicking and screaming into the information age.

"It's now where people are beginning to realize it's not a flash in the pan or idle dream. It might level off, but it's never going to go away," Gross said.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I don't know whether or not you can help me, but I have spoken to many people in the past year who out of the blue were involved in lay-offs or down-sizing of their jobs, resulting in being totally unemployed. I have sat and listened to one too many stories of how destitute this one may have become or how that one has used up all his savings I am writing so that perhaps you may have some suggestions on how a person can monetarily survive a job loss. There must be certain things that one can prepare for. Thank you in advance. T.G.H. - Libertyville

A: Dear T.G.H. The loss job is never easy to handle yet here are a few things that may help you and others to have all your ducks in a row if the situation ever arises. Loss of a job does not have to be a devastating situation. If you plan ahead and know what their options are, you can look at it as an adventure rather than a problem. For instance, always have set aside a minimum of 3-6 months living expense money, whether it be in a money market, or savings account. Something that you can get your hands on now. Do not rely on corporate 401 K plans as there are considerable penalties for withdrawing prior to the age of 59-1/2 and you could stand to lose big bucks! If you have been in corporate down-sizing, you may be able to negotiate with your former employer for things such as an outplacement firm, perhaps a desk and telephone to use for a period of time whereby you can make contacts and be contacted. Further keep in mind that when it comes to corporate benefits a congressional law that was passed states that your employer is required to continue to offer you its corporate discounted insurance rate to allow you to continue on the medical plan that you had been on through your employer. This program is called the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act or COBRA which it is most known for. Although your employer must continue to offer this program to you for a period of up to 18 months, keep in mind that the rates to you will be higher than you are used to paying. While the employer is required to make this offer, you will be responsible for the entire premium. In the past, your employer may have picked up 80 or 90% of the cost of the policy before, leaving you with 10% or 20% to pay. This is still substantially less money for you to stay on this plan as you would still be insured through an employers group rate as opposed to being on your own. Last...Don't be intimidated or embarrassed by the thought of collecting unemployment compensation. Your former employer(s) have paid into this for as long as you've been employed. Unemployment compensation does not mean sit home and watch TV or take a vacation...It means...we will help you out while you seriously seek employment. Hope this helps.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEKHomes Needed Now!

The "dog" days of summer are here, and Orphans of the Storm Animal Shelter is currently housing over two hundred stray, lost and abandoned dogs who are in desperate need of a loving home. Summer is always the busiest and most crowded time for our shelter. Animals pour in from all over Lake County and there is never enough space. Our selection is outstanding. We have small, medium and large dogs in every breed mix, color, shape and coat type possible. And they all have one thing in common: THEY WANT A HOME. Life in a shelter is not the life a dog was meant to live. Dogs require food, shelter and care, and these we can provide. But they also need love, companionship and a sense of belonging, and those are intangibles that a shelter can never provide. If you have a dog and would like to get him or her a playful friend, or if you are without a dog and would like to have a wet nose and a wagging tail to fill your home with joy, PLEASE stop by Orphans and find a friend whose capacity for love and loyalty is boundless. When you adopt a pet, you save a life and bring something special into your life, too! Please act soon!

Cash $55 adoption donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care, and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call (708) 945-0235 for further information.

Yeager, Rivera ready to lead Carmel to contention

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

In most leagues, scoring 230 points will earn most teams a playoff spot, if not a league title.

But not in the tough East Suburban Catholic Conference, which has higher standards than most. Thus, the 230 points scored by Carmel High on the gridiron last fall was good enough to overcome adversity and have a winning 5-4 season, but not the playoffs.

Bigger things are expected this year in Mundelein as the nucleus of the winning team, which finished with a 22-point flourish in the final quarter, is in tact.

"We are returning a lot of good players and the senior leadership is excellent and the attitude has been good. We had 230 points last year, which is a school record for a nine game season," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

Fitzgibbons is entering his ninth season at the helm at CHS. The one-two punch of QB Nick Yeager (1,085 yards passing and 10 TD's despite an injury) and running back Ruben Rivera (773 yards) help bolster the Carmel hopes. Throw in the likes of wide receiver Mike Graham and Round Lake transfer Kevin Burris, and one has a senior group ready to compete with the big names in the ESCC.

"Nick has looked good as our starting quarterback," Fitzgibbons said of Yeager.

Yeager is 5-foot, 9-inches, 175 pounds. He plays strong safety on defense when not guiding the offense.

Senior tackle Joe Bitto, 6-5, 203; linebacker Steve Goblowski, 6-0, 202 have shown leadership.

"The defense is always ahead of the offense," Fitzgibbons said.

Fitzgibbons likes the early start of the season, Aug. 25 at home vs. Notre Dame. Carmel will be one of few schools in session during the season opener. Corsairs fans will have four chances to see the Corsairs at home this fall and all nine regular-season games are Friday night contests.

Shorter practices with frequent breaks for water relief have helped the Corsairs make it through double practices with the minimal of problems.

"There is a lot of unity on this team. This is a blue collar team that has worked, worked and worked," Fitzgibbons stated of his 50-man team.

Luke Chorzy, a senior, and Yeager figure to share the kicking chores.

In addition to Burris, another transfer is Mike Hunn, from Wisconsin.

Returnees back who contributed last year include: J. J. Larsen, a 5-10, 234 pound defensive tackle and senior; linemen Andy Jones, 5-10, 234 and Donovan Kapaelke, 5-10, 225 and guard Jason Chilicki, 6-4, 247.

Players in the secondary returning are Ryan Paddack and Tim Selz.

As for the ESCC race, where Carmel finished 3-4 last year in a league which featured three playoff teams, Fitzgibbons still likes Joliet Catholic and Marian Catholic as favorites. "Until someone knocks them off," he said.

New to the Carmel schedule is a battle at Crystal Lake South Sept. 1.

Wheelchair sprinter wins, looks to Para Olympics

KEVIN HANRAHAN

By winning two bronze medals and one silver medal in a national wheelchair track competition, Libertyville's Sheila O'Neil earned the right to compete in the trials that will determine who will participate in the 1996 Para Olympics.

O'Neil has cerebral palsy and races in wheelchair track events. She trains through the Adaptive Sports program at the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County. O'Neil is employed at the Lake County Center for Independent Living in Mundelein.

The 31-year-old burned rubber on her specially designed wheelchair at the National Victory Games in Hartford, Conn. Her times of 3:54.91 in the 800-meter and :49.49 in the 200-meter earned her two bronze medals, and her :25.58 finish in the 100-meter was good enough for the silver.

The medals allow her to compete at the time trials next spring for the 1996 Para Olympics in Atlanta, Ga.

"I'm pretty excited," O'Neil said. "I'm just really happy it went so well. I'm still a little high from it right now."

She said at the time trials next spring officials will give her some times to beat in order to advance further in the trials and hopefully qualify for the Para Olympics.

Vikings challenge Chargers, fall; face must-win contest

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Vikings put Oakland County's semi-pro football team in an unusual position.

The Chargers found themselves trailing 15-3 in the second quarter Saturday. But before the middle of the fourth quarter, it was the Vikings who did not know what had hit them in a 26-0 Chargers run. The 31-21 loss dropped the Vikings to 1-2 in the Midwest Football League.

"We are now behind the eight ball. We cannot afford to lose another game," Vikings Coach Russ Kraly said.

The Vikings face the longest road trip of the year when they travel to Springfield Aug. 26.

The Vikings scored all their points thanks to the defense until the final seconds. The 21 points represented the most scored in the three games and quarterback Addam Tesch neared the 100-yard mark in passing.

It was after a Tesch completion that fortunes turned. Marvin Nash, after a 27-yard catch, as ruled down and a fumble was ruled valid. The third quarter play took place just as the Vikings were driving and trailing 23-15.

"That was the big change of the game. It sure looked like he was down," Kraly said.

Nash agreed.

The defense the Vikings put up in the first half was a formidable one.

Anthony Poole stripped the ball from Chargers quarterback Carston Daniels and ran 35 yards for a touchdown with 9 minutes left in the first quarter. Jason Molinaro's extra point gave the home team a 7-0 lead.

A goal-line stand, featuring a knockdown of a pass by Jason Palicki, forced the Pontiac-Mich. (3-0) team to settle for a second-quarter field goal.

Molinaro took a page from Poole's playbook when he stripped an Oakland County punt returner of the burden of the football and raced 41 yards for a 13-3 lead. Poole made it 8 points for the night when he caught a 2-point conversion pass from Tesch for a 12-point lead.

"Poole had an outstanding game," Kraly said.

There was just under five minutes left in the half, but the Round Lake crowd was sensing an upset.

Missavage up to challenge as Waukegan boys hoops coach

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Realizing a coaching career goal, Paul Missavage will be the new head boys basketball coach at Waukegan High.

"Since I got out of college I've wanted to be a boys basketball head coach," Missavage said.

Missavage, a Wauconda resident, served last year as head girls basketball coach and boys soccer coach at Grayslake High. He also has coached the Rams girls softball team.

"It will be a big challenge with so many things to do when you take over a program. You have to get the kids to believe in your program as well as the community, parents, administration and faculty," Missavage said.

"I am really happy for Paul as a coach and a friend," Dan Dillon, Grayslake High athletic director, said.

Missavage takes over from Frank Belmont, who coached eight years at Waukegan. Belmont previously coached at Carmel High.

Joe Martinez was named boys soccer coach for the Rams and is assisted by Dan Landry. The girls basketball position has drawn some quality applicants already, Dillon said.

The naming of Missavage ends a summer-long search for the replacement. The position was actually posted twice, according to Wilbur Borreo athletic director at Waukegan High.

"I'm excited. Paul is a personable and out-going coach and what you want in a coach," he said.

Missavage has experience playing and coaching in Europe. "I enjoyed it, but I wanted to come back to the states for my children. I want to coach at the highest level possible," Missavage said.

He described Waukegan's league, the Central Suburban League, as "very competitive. I have met some good kids, and all have good attitudes and are ready to go," he said.

Missavage saw his future team members destroyed Grayslake by 20 points in the first-round playoff game in March.

Missavage believes in the AAU, American Athletic Union, concept of coaching.

"I'll miss Grayslake. There were some great people and the kids were the best," Missavage said.

Waukegan's coaching positions are now filled for the winter and fall sports, but two openings exist for spring, head boys tennis and volleyball. Becky Belmont is now an assistant girls coach at Warren High after leading the Waukegan High boys volleyball team.

World's largest triathlon begins Aug. 27 in Chicago

Area super athletes should take note as the 13th annual "Mrs. T's Chicago Triathlon," the world largest triathlon, will take place Aug. 27, beginning at 6:30 a.m.

The Chicago triathlon is expected to field more than 5,000 people, including the world's top professional and amateur triathletes from the United States and abroad. Some 60 professional triathletes will be competing for $40,000 in prize money.

This year's event is moving back to its site on Solidarity Drive, near the Shedd Aquarium and the Adler Planetarium. The course will highlight Chicago's lakefront skyline and parks.

Athletes will enter the water behind the Aquarium, and swim east along the seawall, around the Planetarium, and finish at 12 Street Beach. The bike leg is held on northbound and southbound Lake Shore Drive with the run on the lakefront bike paths.

America's top amateur triathletes will be racing in a separate division for spots on the Team USA.

Entry fees are $60 for individuals, $105 for open relay teams, $75 for corporate individuals, and $135 for corporate relay teams. For more information, call (312) 404-2372.

Chiefs take division, head to World Series

Lake County Chiefs' 13-and-under baseball team claimed its divisional title Thursday as the team readied for World Series challenge.

The Chiefs won at Niles 9-2 over the home team. The next day, it was off to Seattle for a World Series with games starting Saturday.

"It was a good game to prep for the World Series. It took us two innings to get used to their pitcher," Manager Art Mansavage said. "We hit the ball and moved runners around."

J.J. Lubicky of Libertyville continues to have a hot bat, with a pair of hits in as many at-bats. "He leadoff our rallies in the second and fifth innings. He has improved tremendously," Mansavage said.

Mike Crane of Lake Zurich is the Chiefs' leadoff hitter. "He is very disciplined hitter and works hard," Mansavage said.

Then comes the heart of the order - Austin Turner, John Glatt of Riverwoods, Chris Frey of Lake Zurich, who have all contributed in the Chiefs' late-season surge.

"They really got the whole ball rolling," O'Neil said of Mickey Finn's proprietors Bill Sugars and Pat Elmquist. "They were so encouraging and supporting and getting people to believe in me."

Her track coach is Cindy Housner, who coordinates the Adoptive Sports program at SRA-CLC. O'Neil and Hausner will be searching for an indoor track to practice during the fall and winter months.

O'Neil praised the efforts of SRA-CLC for developing athletes who have disabilities.

"I think Lake County is becoming more and more aware about persons with disabilities and how they are out in the community and wanting an opportunity to participate in some of the things as people without disabilities," O'Neil said.

She added, "Within a year, Lake County has come a long way in developing athletes with disabilities. They encourage them to participate, and a lot of doors are opening up for people with disabilities."

just got burned," Kraly said.

The tide began to turn when Daniels found Tom Leogrande open for the first of four times the two would connect for TDs. The 18-yard strike was the first, but the two teamed up for 34, 39, 39 yards as Daniels passed for more than 200 yards.

The Vikings sustained a drive at the end of the third and beginning of the fourth. A missed field goal of 27 yards by Molinaro ended the effort.

Jerry Nash caught a pass from Tesch from 3-yards out in the final 10 seconds.

"We gained their respect," Marvin Nash said.
